Exhibition tells story of sad loss

– and a reunion!

ABOVE: Mary Husted is making last minute preparations to bring her art exhibition to Barry's Art Central.

by TIM CHAPMAN

BEHIND a new art exhibition in Barry lies a tale of human loss, haunted memories and a final redemption.

The story began in the early 1960s when a teenage girl was forced to give up her baby for adoption, and told by her family to start her life again.

But the central experiences of life can't be erased that easily and the young mother never forgot the child she handed over at the age of ten days. Decades later, following an astonishing sequence of events, mother and son saw each other for the first time in 44 years.

That mother, Barry artist Mary Husted, aged 66, has drawn on her emotional journey to create an exhibition – 'Hush Don't Tell' and works from the 'Spiegel im Spiegel Series' – that opens at Art Central in the Town Hall on Saturday, May 14, and runs to June 4.

Mary's son Luke was conceived when she was an idealistic 17-year-old art student.

"I was at West Sussex College of Art and met a handsome, foreign student – it was my first romance.

"I had Luke in 1963. At that time it was a shameful thing and my parents wanted to hush it up.

"My parents were not keen for me to marry someone who would take me abroad."

Mary's family home was in Worthing, but as the pregnancy developed, it was decided she should go and live with a family friend in Reading.

Her parents told people she had gone to live in Germany for a year. Many years later, she discovered that the subterfuge has been to no avail, because her friends had guessed exactly what had happened!

Pressurised into handing Luke over for adoption, in the brief 10-day period before the handover, she drew pencil sketches of the child she believed she would never see again.

"I knew the sketches were the only thing I would have when he had gone. I was told to forget the baby and start my life again."

Mary went to work in London and soon got married, having three children in quick succession, Lisa, Sara and Jason. The marriage didn't work out, and in 1974 she married a second time, and had a fifth child, Rachael.

"We moved to Barry in 1979 when my husband, Andrew Vincent, was offered a position at Cardiff University.

"It has been our home since then, although we have had periods abroad."

Mary's children are now adults and she is inordinately proud of them all, but admits that when they began to fly the nest, like many mothers, it was a troubling time for her.

"When my two eldest daughters went off to university, I had an identity crisis and began to ask questions like: 'Who am I?' and 'What am I?'"

Encouraged by a local art history teacher to return to her artistic roots, Mary took a four-year course at Cardiff University and graduated in 'fine art' at the same time that her son Jason graduated in electronic engineering.

Despite the passing of time, Luke was never far from her thoughts and her art was suffused in Mary's words "consciously and subconsciously" by the loss of her child.

"I was hiding messages in my work, and over time they were becoming more deliberate."

One of Mary's pictures from 1991 – 'Dreams, Oracles and Icons' – was highly symbolic: a teenage Mary with a bird in her hand, and underneath a baby falling away from her.

VALE VOTERS OFF TO POLLING STATIONS

VOTERS in the Vale will be going to the polls today (Thursday) to elect their Assembly member for the next four years.

Labour's Jane Hutt is defending a slim majority over the Conservatives. In 2007, the present Vale Council Leader, Coun Gordon Kemp, finished just 83 votes behind.

That year, Jane Hutt polled 11,515, compared to Coun Kemp's 11,432. Plaid Cymru were third on 4,671, with the Lib-Dems fourth on 3,758.

The four contenders are: Jane Hutt (Labour); Angela Jones-Evans (Conservative); Dr Ian Johnson (Plaid Cymru) and Damien Chick (Lib-Dem).

Vale voters will also be asked to cast their vote on the suggested Alternative Vote (AV) method of electing a future UK government.

MAY I take this opportunity to thank the 'Heol y Drew Crew' who organised our 'royal wedding, meet the neighbours' gathering.

It was a huge success. A great time was had by all and it was the perfect excuse to introduce people to each other.

Having lived at Rhoose Point for six years, it's now an even nicer place to be.

We'are all looking forward to more regular social gatherings.

J Chapman,
Rhoose Point

• MORE than 70 people came to the street party organised for Heol y Dryw and Llwyn y Gog at Rhoose Point.

The food supplied by the partygoers was exceptional and the chocolate fountain and ice cream went down particularly well with the children.

The chilly weather did not stop the party continuing until almost midnight!

Wales needs more quality control...

IN Wales we have been bombarded with election leaflets promising heaven on earth.

Yet I have failed to find any so-called manifesto, any history of the candidate, their background in education, commerce or industry.

I have also failed to find any record of any worthwhile achievements in the public area.

They sometimes give an impressive list of committees that they have been on (a meeting is where you take minutes and waste hours).

If we are not careful, we will end up with an incompetent political collection of inexperienced political researchers, accountants and lawyers.

Have the candidates ever constructed anything or organised a successful business?

We must get real. We have laws, bureaucracy and wars we do not want. We are over-populated, illiterate and somewhat work-shy as a nation.

We must be led by high quality people who want to govern us.

'Twin with Haiti' call to council

RECENTLY, The GEM has published letters from the public who each endorse the concept of twinning the Vale of Glamorgan with either Haiti or a district of that island – for a multiplicity of reasons.

"The people of Haiti have so little and yet they are a faith-filled and happy people – they are desperate and yet also full of hope".

These are the words of Frank McKinney, who started his working life with 50 dollars and is now a Miami-based millionaire. He has built 500 homes for 4,000 people living in abject poverty in that country - through his charity 'Caring House Project Foundation'.

The houses are situated in Cite Soleil – the poorest suburb of the poorest city in the western hemisphere's poorest country. "Do this and people flourish", says Mr McKinney.

The restructuring of Haiti is going to take about 20 years. On behalf of those who have written to The GEM about this matter – I call upon the Vale Council to possibly set a precedent in Britain by twinning the Vale with an area of Haiti – or Haiti itself.

'COUNCIL TREATING PEOPLE WITH CONTEMPT'

'Barry needs one strong protest group'

ON reading The GEM newspaper on April 28, I was absolutely disgusted at the Vale Council planning committee's actions in contacting Barry Town Council, requesting that they consider the use of the public open space to the east of Cemetery Approach and the Cemetery Road allotments as a future site for gypsies and travellers.

Not only is this area virtually in the centre of Barry town, but it is also immediately outside the main entrance to the cemetery.

This Conservative-controlled council is treating people of Barry and families with loved ones at rest with utter contempt.

I personally see this as a revenge and political blackmail against the 11,300 residents who had the audacity to sign the petition against the building of 61 houses/flats on this ground.

In the end, they will try to 'console' the people of Barry by saying 'we will not have a gypsy site if we can build there'.

Barry used to be a prosperous seaside town. Before long, it will be looking more like a sprawling concrete open prison, with gridlocked roads, being used by the Vale Council as a dumping ground.

The Vale Local Development Plan for 2011–2026 is their chance to tie up all of the green and open areas of Barry before the local elections (even if they do not get re-elected).

I would like to suggest that the planning committee stop any more construction until our road infrastructures are upgraded to take the weight and volume of traffic for the 21st century.

Barry residents are forming groups, associations and signing petitions in an effort to protect their areas, but they are picked off one by one by our council.

We must form one strong town group, to portray a united front that cannot be picked off by the council.

We have got the local elections within one year (May 2012). I would like to see steps taken to apply for a referendum to return Barry back to the 'Barry Borough Council', with the possibility of the referendum vote being held on the same day as the local election next year.

(By the way, Cowbridge Common would make a lovely open gypsy travellers' site).

Bryn Evans,
FocusBARRY supporter.

'Porthceri Centre arts group still believes in the people of Barry'

THE Porthceri Centre group would like to give our response to the news that the Porthkerry church has been sold.

The sale of the building in which we have been active over the past nine months was indeed a blow, particularly as we were 10 weeks away from submitting our bid to the Barry Regeneration Board.

We are, however, continuing to work towards our goal of a cultural centre in Barry, incorporating a medium-sized performing arts venue, visual arts and crafts, and Welsh language activities.

Following discussions, our bid will use the Porthceri Centre as a model of what we aim to do, and will include an options appraisal of the URC Windsor Road premises and the Pumphouse site.

Our bid is at an advanced stage and although we can no longer focus on Porthceri as a permanent home, we believe that the concept which we developed a year ago is equally viable in other venues in Barry.

Who knows, the sale of Porthceri may be a cloud that has a uniquely silvery lining!

Why we believe in this concept, and why we have been working so hard to make it happen is because we believe in Barry and its people.

Anyone looking around the town will have marvelled at the ingenuity, resourcefulness and commitment displayed in its history, and been left wondering why a town built on aspiration now finds itself at times defined by desperation.

We also believe there is an unsatisfied appetite in Barry for the opportunity to be creative and enjoy the creativity of others, to entertain and be entertained, to uplift and be uplifted, and to inform our future by celebrating our collective past.

With the numbers of children attending Welsh-medium schools set on a steadily increasing trend, and the numbers of Welsh learners also rising, we envisage a home for Welsh-language activities in the Vale.

There is little doubt about the need for a centre where out-of-school, post-school and adult Welsh-medium activities across the artistic spectrum can be a part of the mainstream of cultural events in Barry and the Vale.

This does not mean the centre would be for 'Welshies', a term used to describe our plans and which even I, as a Scot, find offensive.

Our vision is simply for a place where the Welsh language is part of the wider picture, and is reflective of the community.

There are other groups in Barry whose aims are related to ours. They, too. are committed to building a better Barry by responding to the aspirations of the community.

The Porthceri Centre group is inclusive and is willing to work with groups and individuals who share our goals for the town.

This does not mean building a playground just for the cultural elite – on the contrary, it means giving the widest possible access to the best of what culture has to offer, in Barry.

The words of Welsh academic and critic Raymond Williams capture something of what we believe to be the zeitgeist in Barry – "to be truly radical is to make hope possible rather than despair convincing."

We believe it is our responsibility as Barrians to prove that we can DELIVER and translate hope into reality.

If you would like to offer support or practical help email chair@porthceri.co.uk, or text Porthceri on 07958590365.

If you visit www.porthceri.co.uk you will find details of how to contact our elected representatives to have your say.

Dorothy Connell,
chair, Porthceri Centre.

Cratered road and fly tippers

MAYBE there would not be so much fly tipping if the access road to the amenities centre on Llandow was in better condition– it has gone beyond the state of being pot holed, it is cratered.

Driving to the amenities centre poses a real danger of damaging your car. Surely the owners have some sort of responsibility to provide safe access to businesses that rent space on the site?

D Andrews,
Boverton.

Cemetery Road exercise is a 'waste of time'

I HAVE been involved with the Roma and traveller community for more than 40 years and I myself have Roma and gypsy ancestry through my great-great-grandmother.

It is therefore with some surprise that I read your lead article last week on the land east of Cemetery Road, Barry, being considered as a possible traveller site.

In my opinion, although this site needs considerable attention and is an eyesore, it would be totally unsuitable as a travellers site.

If canvassed, many travellers would prefer a site close to an urban environment but also with ready access to the countryside. To even consider a site surrounded by houses is asking for trouble and confrontation, which is certainly not desired by travellers nor the settled 'gavjo' community.

Even to go through with the exercise is a waste of council offericers' time.

I hope they think more constructively in the future and consult with gypsy organisations as to their ideal sites, which will minimise any possible conflict with the settled community.

Christopher Short,
Former vice president of the National Gypsy Education Council.

Little thought for Barry?

I AGREE wholeheartedly with the comments of Dennis Harkus in last week's issue of The GEM, regarding the use of land to the east of Cemetery Road, Barry.

Unfortunately, as the Vale Council planning committee seems to be dominated by councillors who reside in the rural Vale area they, as they have done on many previous occasions, will show little consideration for the interest of Barry residetns.

John K McTavish,
Barry

'Parking permits in Barry are worthless'

I AM writing regarding parking restrictions in Newlands Street, Barry, where there are signs for two-hour parking and permit holders-only parking.

I'm a resident and therefore required to display a parking permit in my car.

However, since the police have withdrawn traffic wardens, these restrictions of two hours and permit holders only have no value whatsoever; non-residents are parking in both two hours and permit holder bays for as long as they wish.

Community Support Officers have been asked to pick up parking offences, yet I have been told that due to cuts to South Wales Police, Buttrills ward only has one PCSO. He is expected to deal with a whole range of issues in the ward, in addition to parking offences.

The Vale Council is in discussions with Bridgend County Borough Council to jointly run a warden service, but this will take at least 18 months to complete.

So in the meantime, we have to put up with the current situation and the inconvenience it causes. Parking permits at present would not seem worth the paper they are printed on.....and a waste of taxpayers' money.

P Inch (nee Moore),
Barry

HIGH TIDE TIMES

(UNTIL MAY 12)

The high tides listed in this week's GEM are those in Porthcawl. It should be remembered that along the coast, high tide times will vary. For instance, in Barry, the high point will be 20 – 25 minutes later.

DATE	Time AM	Ht M	Time PM	Ht M
05 Thur	09.26	9.2	21.41	9.4
06 Fri	10.02	9.3	22.14	9.3
07 Sat	10.37	9.1	22.54	9.0
08 Sun	11.15	8.8	23.29	8.7

10 Tues	00.22	8.4	12.58	8.2
11 Wed	01.26	8.1	14.06	8.0
12 Thur	02.39	8.1	15.25	7.9

While The GEM makes every effort to check the accuracy of tide tables, we recommend that anyone putting out to sea, or walking in an area where they could be cut off, should always check with a tide table specific to their location.

Cemetery Approach land question is to be posed at full council meeting

REPORT by TIM CHAPMAN

LAST week, The GEM reported that the Vale Council had been in touch with Barry Town Council to ask whether it would consider the nursery land and allotments east of Cemetery Road being used as a site for gypsies and travellers.

The request is part of an initial investigation by the Vale Council to compile potential locations for travellers in the future.

Council planning officers have calculated that there is a need for six permanent and 15 transit pitches within the Vale by 2018.

Now, Vale councillor Rob Curtis has told The GEM that he will be asking a question relating to the land at next week's full council meeting.

Coun Curtis pointed out that he recently requested a report to a scrutiny committee investigating the potential to allocate land on either side of the Cemetery Approach for allotment use and to be added to the existing allotments adjoining the site. He also emphasised that the town council had been interested in the land for cemetery purposes, although not for burial use.

Coun Curtis said: "The question I will be asking is: 'Would the leader agree with me and concerned local residents that these two uses would be much more appropriate than using this site as traveller or gypsy accommodation?'"

Last week's story also generated letters of concern from within the Barry community.

Bryn Evans a FocusBARRY supporter, who lives a stone's throw from the cemetery, claimed the Vale Council was treating people with "utter contempt".

"I see this as revenge and political blackmail against the 11,300 people who had the audacity to sign the petition against the building of 61 houses and flats on this ground.

"In the end they will try to 'console' the people of Barry by saying we will not have a gypsy site if we can build there."

Christopher Short, who has been involved with the Roma and traveller community for more than 40 years, said he would be against the Cemetery Approach area being used by the travelling community.

"In my opinion, although this site needs considerable attention and is an eyesore, it would be totally unsuitable as a travellers', gypsy or Roma site...

"To even consider a site surrounded by houses is asking for trouble and confrontation which is certainly not desired by travellers or the settled community."

The Vale Council has pointed out that in writing to the town council about the land, it was not treating that location differently to others that were being examined.

Mr Rob Thomas, the head of planning and transportation, emphasised last week: "As is made clear in the letter, this is an initial investigation with the aim of compiling a database of sites, which will then need further consideration and analysis.

"No decisions have been made as to which, if indeed any, of the sites that come forward will be appropriate and this will be a matter for further assessment.

"I can also confirm that the land at Cemetery Road has not been singled out for any special treatment as all those who submitted candidate sites have received the letter in question."

Vale community project wins a national award

A COMMUNITY project that gave a Barry housing estate 'something to be proud about' and helped create 'a happier community' has been awarded a Youth Work in Wales Excellence Award by the Welsh Assembly Government

The Vale Youth Street Team won the award in the 'Outstanding Mobile Youth Project' category for their work with the 'V-Pod', the Vale of Glamorgan youth bus, and in particular the 'Community Respect Project'.

Residents on the Shakespeare Estate in Cadoxton, Barry, frequently reported problems with young people, while local young people said they felt unable to communicate with older people in their community.

Local people and the Shakespeare Residents' Association were asked what they would like to achieve together and young and old chose revamping a huge wall on their estate.

More than 40 members of the community worked on a 120-foot mural to cover the wall with the story of the estate and the history of music during its time. They also took part in sessions on the V-Pod youth bus, working on team building, communication games and multi media skills.

Russell, a local resident said: "The project has been such a great thing for the young people in this area, and not just them but all ages in the local community. Young people have been so engaged in the project and are really proud of the work they have done."

Claw hammer is used in an attack on cars

CCTV image released by police.

A CCTV image has been released by Barry Police investigating damage to a blue Citroen C4 and a blue Hyundai Tucson parked in the driveway of a house at Coldbrook Road West on April 11.

"It is believed that the suspect jumped over large gates at the front of the premises and attacked the vehicles using a claw hammer," a police spokesman said.

Anyone with information should contact PC Gareth Holmes at Barry Police Station on 01446 731623 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Probe starts into Billy Banks blaze

A police spokesman explained that they had received a call at 4.30pm on Wednesday, April 28.

"Around 20 fire fighters were called to the unoccupied estate where the blaze broke out in flats on third and fourth floor buildings.

"Anyone with any information about this incident or who may have seen anyone acting suspiciously in the area in the period before the fire broke out is asked to contact Sergeant Paul Francis at Penarth police station on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111."

Last year, demolition work began on the Billy Banks, in preparation for a new housing development by Crest Nicholson. A total of 377 houses and flats is planned.

The Billy Banks were originally built in the 1960s.

Former First Minister pops in to praise Friends and Neighbours

FORMER First Minister Rhodri Morgan visited the Age Concern Senior Health Shop to distribute Easter eggs, as part of the Friends and Neighbours Easter celebrations.

He talked about his impending retirement from the Assembly and said how much he was enjoying his garden, exchanging tips with keen gardeners in the Friends and Neighbours clubs.

Gay Fifield and her team of volunteers were praised by Jane Hutt for their work to make the Friends and Neighbours Club such an important Social Club in Barry.

Hunt for culprits who put terrapins in pond

Report by PHILIP IRWIN

POLICE are hunting the person responsible for dumping two terrapins in the pond at Old Hall gardens, Cowbridge.

The animals were eventually rescued by a local ecologist, Jenny Jones, who is looking after them until she finds a suitable home.

Jenny was called in by PC Mark Goulding, who is the South Wales Police Wildlife Officer. Mark's duties normally take him further afield, but this job was a little closer to home.

He told The GEM: "We do take these matters seriously, because two criminal offences are involved here.

"First, there is an animal welfare issue and second, it is an offence to introduce a non-native species into a local ecosystem."

The latter carries a maximum sentence of two years.

He continued: "We are seeking any information about how these terrapins came to be dumped in the Old Hall Gardens."

Damage to the local eco-system is clearly an issue here. Jenny Jones explained: "The pond had proved to be a good home for newts – which are still a protected species, and it looks as if the population has fallen sharply, because the terrapins will have fed on them."

Terrapins are a popular household pet and Mark explained that they are often bought when young and very small, and can be contained within a small tank.

However, the Cowbridge two are now between three and five years of age and are fully grown and quite active. They need an expensive, large, heated tank.

The two are by no means that first to be dumped and, although native to the southern states of America, they can adapt to the colder climate here.

There is, apparently, a colony in Roath Park Lake in Cardiff, and Mark has appeared on a BBC Wales programme Rhys to the Rescue, with the Cardiff University herpetologist Dr Rhys Jones.

On that programme, Mark and Dr Rhys were able to prove that terrapins can be quite elusive, and they had great trouble catching them!

It is quite remarkable that cold-blooded animals such as terrapins have been able to survive the last two severe cold winters that we have experienced, but dumping them in the wild is still, says Mark, an animal welfare issue.

He said: "They are vulnerable to attack from larger birds, and we have found dead terrapins that have been partially eaten after such an attack."

On the other side of the coin, terrapins have no teeth, but they have a razor sharp beak, and on Roath Park Lake have taken bites out of ducks' feet or fishes' fins.

PC Goulding said: "Anyone with information can contact me at Cowbridge Police Station, or by telephoning 101."

Choir starting countdown to annual concert

COWBRIDGE Male Voice Choir will be celebrating the end of their 40th anniversary year on Saturday, May 14, with their 41st annual concert in Cowbridge Leisure Centre.

They have been preparing for this special concert all year and have practised a wide repertoire of new songs for the occasion.

These range from a lovely arrangement of 'The Lord is my Shepherd' based on the theme song for the popular television programme 'The Vicar of Dibley', to an arrangement of Robbie Williams' 'She' and the rousing chorus 'Divine Brahma' from Bizet's 'The Pearl Fishers'.

The concert will be conducted by Shelley Thomas-Brown, with Sandra Williams providing the accompaniment. The Master of Ceremonies will be the choir's own Keith Davies.

The soloist this year is Gavin Davies who was born in Cardiff and has studied under Jason Howard, Sir Thomas Allen and Gerald Wragg.

He has an extensive repertoire, having appeared as soloist with many choirs and choral societies both throughout the UK and abroad.

Gavin was the soloist at the 61st American-Welsh National Gymanfa Ganu in Kansas City, USA, and has also performed elsewhere in the USA, Malta and Israel.

In recital, he has performed with the famous pianist Ingrid Surgenor and the 1997 winner of the Cardiff Singer of the World, Chinese mezzo-soprano, Guang Yang.

On the operatic stage he has performed with many companies including the Welsh National Opera (with Bryn Terfel in 'Die Fliegende Hollander'.

Tickets can be obtained in Cowbridge from Sorrento, David Barnes Dry Cleaners and the Cowbridge Leisure Centre; in Llantwit Major from Gwyneth J Morgan, Optometrist; and in Pontyclun from the Charity Shop. Doors open at 6.30 pm and the concert starts at 7pm.

Reunited after 44 years – artist and her long-lost son

She donated the picture to New Hall, Cambridge, which had decided it wanted to house a collection of women's art.

"I thought: 'Can I let this go?' And then I thought: 'It's a privilege to be in the collection'.

"I also thought it would act as a flag for Luke. It seemed cloud cuckoo land that anything would happen."

Mary's married name is Vincent, but professionally she has used the rarer surname Husted.

Over the years, she had tried without success to trace her long lost son. What she didn't know was that Luke, now married with two sons, was determined to find her.

Luke googled the name Husted and up came New Hall Art Collection and the picture of a teenage girl, a bird in her hand, and a baby falling away from her…

For Luke it was a charged moment. He explained: "The more I looked, the more I realised this picture was probably about me. It was like a shiver down my spine."

He sent Mary a sensitively worded email which said he was researching his family tree and was looking for 'Mary Vivienne Husted' who had lived in the Reading area of England in the 1960s.

It went into Mary's spam box, but by the grace of God, she didn't delete it.

"I decided to read it. I had goosebumps and went cold. I knew it was my son and felt elation."

A fortnight later in October 2007, Mary had an emotional reunion with her ten day old son, now a strapping 44-year-old man, at Kew Gardens.

"It was lovely. Wonderful. We stared at each other. We couldn't stop talking. We bonded straight away."

Luke is a company director and although his adoptive father is dead, his adoptive mother is still alive.

His name is actually not Luke, and can't be revealed because he and his sister decided that they did not want to upset his adoptive mother with news that he had tracked down Mary.

He had actually called one of his own sons Luke, which thrilled Mary because it indicated an acceptance of the past.

He has built up friendships with Mary's four children and with his skills in running an audio-visual company has helped in the presentation of Mary's exhibition.

Friends had urged Mary to bring 'Hush Don't Tell' and 'Spiegel im Spiegel' – which means mirror in the mirror – to Wales, but even better than that, it will feature in her home town.

The exhibition, which comprises drawings in a 3D format, contains more than 30 pieces and deals with themes of loss, memory and the past. Now you know why.

Surprise in store for three good causes

THROUGHOUT March, customers at Waitrose Barry supported three worthwhile causes through Community Matters – Penarth branch of the Kidney Wales Foundation, which received £380; Penarth Lifeboat Station, which received £300; and the Bridgend Dogs Trust, which received £320.

"We would just like to say a special thanks to Julie, who organised the collection, and a huge thank-you to all the partners at Barry who donated items towards this cause," a Waitrose spokesperson said.

The great cause behind Vale town's Book Festival

A HOST of celebrities and big-name authors will descend on Cowbridge for a week-long book festival this month, in support of the blood cancer charity Leukaemia and Lymphoma Research.

Alastair Campbell, Geoff Thomas, John Hartson, Adam Hochschild, Stevie Davies and Dai Smith are among a 28-strong line-up of distinguished authors who will be visiting the town between Monday, May 16 and Sunday, May 22.

An exciting children's programme includes Mark Brake and Jon Chase, The Etherington Brothers and Nicola Davies.

The festival, which takes place at the Old Hall Adult Education Centre and United Free Church in Cowbridge, will allow visitors the opportunity to meet their favourite authors, hear entertaining presentations and buy signed copies of their books.

Other highlights are a photographic exhibition which runs through the month of May, as well as a Vintage and Craft fair in the Old Hall Gardens on Saturday, May 21.

Event organiser and former librarian, Stella Cheeseman explained: "We went on holiday to Australia back in February with eight or nine speakers confirmed and by the time we got back there were 28 authors interested – the response has been fantastic!

"I hope it will bring lots of people to Cowbridge and that we can make this an annual fundraiser for Leukaemia and Lymphoma Research."

Leukaemia and Lymphoma Research is the only UK charity solely dedicated to research in to all blood cancers including leukaemia, lymphoma and myeloma.

Last year, Cardiff University was named the charity's first centre of excellence, recognised for its world class research into the two most common forms of adult leukaemia – acute myeloid leukaemia (AML) and acute lymphocytic leukaemia (CLL).

Stella said: "Ten years ago, we lost a good friend and neighbour to leukaemia and around the same time another friend's daughter had leukaemia. After years of intensive treatment she recovered.

"Everyone seems to know someone who has been affected by a blood cancer and I'm just so impressed by the strides that are being made in research but clearly the battle must go on.

"As a leukaemia survivor our 'launch' author, Geoff Thomas, is living proof that the money people donate to Leukaemia and Lymphoma Research is being put to good use.

"Former England mid-fielder and Crystal Palace captain, Geoff Thomas, is visiting Cowbridge tomorrow (Friday, May 6) to formally launch the Cowbridge Book Festival with his book Riding Through the Storm."

For more programme information visit: www.cowbridgebookfestival.co.uk. To book tickets, please call Stella on 01446 774827.

Town Council launch 'Barry's Got Talent'

BARRY Town Council is pleased to announce its inaugural Barry Schools' Concert which will take place in the Memorial Hall and Theatre on Tuesday, May 17.

The Town Council is proud to showcase the talents of the town's young people in an event to be called "Barry's Got Talent".

The show will be packed full of young entertainers performing music, dance, drama and much more.

In addition, there will be visits from Barry born and bred adult performers and a grand finale to encompass the spirit of the evening.

Tickets for this key event can be obtained from the Memorial Hall and Theatre Box Office, telephone number 01446 738622, or via the Memorial Hall and Theatre's website.

The box office is open for enquiries between 10am and 4pm, Monday to Friday.

Tickets have been priced very competitively at just £3 per person and the event will commence at 7pm in the main theatre.

The council has been assisted by Sarah Creasy (Gladstone Primary School) and Jess Kingston (High Street Primary School) with most of the organisational arrangements being carried out by council staff with help and co-operation from the Memorial Hall and Theatre Trust.

This is a new event, which if successful, town councillors would like to repeat on an annual basis.

Letters have been sent to the headteachers of participating schools, and the council hopes that this opportunity for schools and their pupils to showcase their talents will prove very popular with teachers, governors, parents, friends and relatives of the pupils taking part – as well as appealing to a wider audience across the local community.

First Responders 'make a difference'

THE Vale MP Alun Cairns has heard how Barry First Responders have attended more than 2000 calls and made life saving interventions since the group was created in 2004.

Mr Cairns said: "I recently attended a meeting of the Barry First Responders, and was pleased to meet the latest intake of recently qualified officers.

"First Responders provide a vital service and can make a real difference to the lives of those who have either suffered an accident or medical emergency.

Bryan Foley, the team co-ordinator, recounted an incident where he had saved a life, well before the ambulance arrived on the scene.

"The aim is not to replace the ambulance service, but ensure that in circumstances such as during cardiac arrest, defibrillation and other time-critical life-saving techniques can occur as soon as possible, maximising the chance of the casualty's survival."

Council surgery

VALE councillors Jeff James and Gordon Kemp will be holding one of their monthly advice surgeries on Saturday, May 7 from 10am-12noon at the Rhoose Community Centre, Stewart Road, Rhoose.

PLAID SURGERY

RESIDENTS are invited to attend an advice surgery to discuss any issues or concerns with Plaid councillors Caroline Turner and Barry Shaw who will be joined by Dr Ian Johnson, Chris Franks and Keith Stockdale at Holton Primary School, Pyke Street, Barry, from 11am until 12 midday on Saturday, May 7. NEWS FROM PENARTH AND DISTRICT SCOUT COUNCIL

GIRLS SWELL GROWING NUMBERS OF SCOUTS

CENSUS figures for membership of The Scout Association, show that Wales has the largest increase overall.

Penarth and District has seen an overall increase of 23.8 per cent increase of youth members over the past 12 months, with an increase of female members included in this figure.

Some female members were interviewed for the ITV Wales News on Friday, following the news that more girls are joining scouting than ever before (the report can be seen via the District website, penarthanddistrictscouts.org.uk).

Megan Brooks, Scout Leader, said: "I was in Guides when I was younger, I remember not being there for long and I joined Scouts because I think it has more to offer."

Tesoro, an Explorer Scout with the Les Pugh's own ESU commented: "We are getting chances to do thing that before we couldn't do, and we can join in with boys and have fun."

Holly, another Explorer Scout, said: "I think it is always good for everyone to be involved for all the activities because it just makes it seem much more integrated and widens your friendship circle".

Julian Jordan, District Commissioner for Penarth and District told ITV: "We encourage anyone to join, Scouting is for all, girls, boys, adults, there is a place in Scouting for everyone".

Bear Grylls, Chief Scout, said: "It's great to see that more and more girls are signing up to Scouting and that the movement is continuing to grow as a whole. Being a Scout represents all that is great about life: adventure, life skills and friendship – and it is no surprise that so many girls are wanting to be part of that. It's absolutely crucial, though, that more adults sign up as volunteers as well, to ensure that we can keep up with the huge demand."

With an increase in youth membership, more adult support is required at all levels and anyone interested can find more information about joining Scouting at scouts.org.uk/join.

Information about the Penarth and District Scouts can be found on the website www.penarthanddistrictscouts.org.uk

Phil Dutfield.

Phil is Penarth's new man at helm

PENARTH lifeboat station's team of volunteers has a brand new manager who will lead the shore based and sea-going crew, and ensure the safe running of the Wales' fifth busiest lifeboat station.

Forty-year-old Phil Dutfield took up his role as Penarth RNLI's lifeboat operations manager, having been a volunteer with the Penarth RNLI for 22 years.

He joined the charity as a teenager via the Duke of Edinburgh Award scheme, and since then has been a sea-going member of the operational crew, both as a crew member and a helmsman. He also spent several years as Penarth lifeboat station treasurer.

Phil is part of a large team of Penarth volunteers – fundraisers, shore crew, seagoing personnel and management – who give their time and commitment to the RNLI .

All volunteers have their own 'day jobs' and Phil's is a 20-year career with South Wales Police, currently working on the police helicopter.

Phil said: "In the new role, I hope my 22 years' experience as a crew member and helmsman will only enhance and support the previous good work which has already been established by previous lifeboat operation managers – most recently Philip Lay who held the role for five years – and existing crew members.

"The RNLI is very much aware of its role within the community in Penarth, and we are all proud to be part of this charity.

"Because we are funded entirely by charitable donations, we rely on the support of the public, and over the past years, I've been constantly amazed at the generosity of the members of the public."

Phil is married to school teacher Heather, and the couple have two young children.

Anyone interested in joining the crew or helping in any way can email the Lifeboat Station - Penarth@rnli.org or call into the lifeboat station, on Penarth Esplanade on a Tuesday evening.

Beaches ban on dogs

LOCAL owners have been warned that dogs are banned from the beaches at Southerndown, Llantwit Major, Cold Knap, Barry Island and Penarth. between May 1-September 30.

A spokeswoman for the Vale Council pointed out: "A by-law exists to protect bathers and ensure their safety throughout the summer, when the beaches have their highest number of visitors.

"During this time it is an offence to bring a dog on any of the beaches listed above and if you're caught breaking the ban you could face a fine of up to £500.

"You can still walk your dog at all other Vale beaches year round, but please remember to be a responsible owner and pick up after your pooches. Once bagged and tied you can use any council bin to dispose of your dog's waste," she added.

The council provides free blue poop bags which are available from the Civic Offices in Barry and the Alps Office in Wenvoe. Owners can also collect blue bags from Penarth, Cowbridge and Llantwit Major libraries.

Vale town-twinning visit to Belgium

TWO representatives of the Vale of Glamorgan Twinning Association (VGTA) visited Mouscron in Belgium earlier this month and were invited to meet members of the recently-formed voluntary Friendship Association.

Committee members Paul Baker and Rodney Care reported: "We were very impressed with the beautiful parks in the town and the facilities provided at the Ecole de Sport which has no less than 14 football pitches, running track, two swimming pools and an equestrian centre.

"A large show of vintage vehicles by the Antwerpse Renault Oldtimer Club, with over 100 vehicles, all beautifully restored, was very interesting. Their chairman, Walter Govers, said that many of his members would like to show their treasured vehicles in the Vale of Glamorgan."

Members of the shooting, golf, rambling and tennis clubs would all like to arrange meetings with clubs in the Vale.

Sunday morning had been taken up with visits to the circus school and the cheese-rolling festival.

The VGTA is arranging a 'Tall Ships' youth voyage for young people of all four twin-towns in June 2012. Email organiser, Peter Coleman at …peter.coleman@36.co.uk)

The association will hold its AGM in the Council Offices, Holton Road at 6pm on Friday, May 6.

FIVE YEARS JAIL FOR VALE MEN IN COUNTERFEIT CIGARETTE SCAM

A bid to smuggle 3.6 million counterfeit cigarettes into the UK concealed in a consignment of cheap toys, led to jail sentences for two Vale men last week.

Gerald Courtney and Mark Anthony Rees's plan to flood south Wales with their illicit haul was thwarted when HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC) investigation officers overheard them discussing their scam at Cardiff Docks.

The cigarettes had been hidden in a container shipped into the UK via Felixstowe, and were then transported to the city by road.

Rees and Courtney were both sentenced to five years, following an earlier trial at Cardiff Crown Court.

The amount of duty evaded on the cigarettes was £670,000.

Adrian Farley, assistant director, HM Revenue & Customs, said: "Gerald Courtney and Mark Rees thought they were home and dry when their container of counterfeit cigarettes turned up at Cardiff Docks.

"Little did they know that HMRC was watching and waiting.

"Had this smuggling attempt been successful, south Wales would have been flooded by a counterfeit product that would have ripped off unsuspecting customers and undermined honest, law-abiding retailers.

"HMRC will relentlessly pursue those involved in illegal smuggling. Anyone with information can contact our customs hotline on 0800 59 50 00."

The court had heard that Rees, aged 45, of Penmark was a sole trader based at Cardiff Docks. He and Courtney, aged 53, from Rhoose, conspired together to smuggle 3,640,000 counterfeit cigarettes into the UK in October 2009.

The container was shipped from China; its accompanying documentation declared the load to be toys.

On arrival at Felixstowe, officers from the UK Border Agency (UKBA) became suspicious and discovered the cigarettes concealed behind just two rows of boxes containing plastic toy cars.

UKBA referred the case to HMRC for investigation, and the consignment continued on to its Cardiff destination.

Rees and Courtney visited the container at Cardiff Docks and were heard to discuss the consignment.

They were later charged with the evasion of excise duty.

Local soldier Joseph on a tough 'learning curve'

Lance Corporal Joseph Teale.

WHEN Lance Corporal Joseph Teale returns home from Kenya, he'll have more than a few wild tales to tell his family.

For the last month, the 21-year-old section commander has been on Exercise Askari Thunder in the east African country with 1st Battalion The Royal Welsh (Royal Welch Fusiliers).

Training lasts six weeks and is an extended test of soldier skills, stamina and fitness, where soldiers learn how to work with each other, take enemy ground and how to cope with an unexpected attack or ambush.

Joseph, from Brackla, where mum Sian and dad John still live, said: "The experience has been excellent when you weigh it all up. We're learning things all the time and you come out much better prepared."

However, as the soldiers manoeuvre through the levels they not only have get used to free-roaming wildlife in the form of elephants, cheetahs and lions, they have to beat the scorching heat.

"Travelling to places like Kenya is part of your job as a soldier and you get to see so many different things," said Joseph, who serves with D Company and has previously toured Cyprus, Canada and also two tours of Afghanistan.

"Here, it's quite bizarre to see giraffes and elephants just wander up close and the scorpions are massive."

The 1st Royal Welsh is heading up a 1,000-strong battlegroup that includes a company of soldiers from the Kenyan Army. The days are spent conducting intense exercises in temperatures sometimes reaching 50 degrees celsius in a place called Archers Post, more than 250 miles from the capital Nairobi.

Two weeks ago, one soldier suffered a snake bite and the training also had to be halted in parts because herds of ostriches decided to scamper across the range.

He added: "Everything's a learning curve on tours like this but being in Kenya is unique. The temperature has been a real test and it's all part of the training." RW

Royal wedding brings out local party spirit

ACROSS the Vale and Bridgend, people were keen to celebrate the royal wedding of Prince William and Katherine Middleton, reports Tim Chapman.

Some organised local street parties, landlords in towns and rural villages decorated their pubs with union flags and bunting and others held private celebrations.

Although there was an overcast start to the day, by mid-morning the sun was out, and people were able to go ahead confidently with outdoor events.

The White Lion in Ystradowen used the day of the royal wedding to help raise funds for the Breast Cancer Unit at Llandough Hospital.

The pub has been painted pink to maintain the 'breast awareness' theme, and an Elvis impersonator arrived in a pink convertible car with a 'royal' couple in the back, complete with military and wedding dress!

One street party in Barry only made it by the skin of its teeth.

The residents of Lee Road discovered they had not applied in time to the Vale Council for the necessary permission, and Assembly candidate Angela Jones-Evans and local councillor Richard Bertin contacted the council to ensure the street did not miss out on the celebrations.

In Cowbridge, the town council hosted a family event which drew lots of excited children.

At West Farm in Llantwit Major, local residents enjoyed a 'sumptuous' tea, complete with an impressive William and Katherine wedding cake, and enjoyed games afterwards.

The Bush Inn at St Hilary, like many local pubs, put on a tempting spread for villagers, had facepainting and fancy dress for the children, followed by musical entertainment and games.

In the run-up to the wedding, the Vale Council had received requests for just two street party road closures, while the neighbouring Bridgend County Borough Council received six.

However, the actual number of events taking place were harder to quantify, as many streets made use of shared 'village green' areas for their own celebration.

In Porthcawl at the Atlantic Hotel, it was ladies only for a wedding breakfast event that extended on through the afternoon and into the evening, while pubs throughout the borough hosted wedding day themed events.

Meanwhile, the 'official' street parties were all going with a swing, while the unofficial ones were also having a great time.

It was a day when even the most hardened anti-monarchist would have been forced to admire the general good will and community spirit!

This week's GEM is packed with photographs of street parties and wedding day events – and they are still coming in!

There may well be more next week!

Magic of Queen

THE Memorial Hall and Theatre welcomes Magic back to Barry on Thursday, May 12.

National Eisteddfod could bring a windfall of £6m

THE National Eisteddfod being held in the Vale next year is expected to attract up to 160,000 people and pump £6m into the local economy.

This information was given to members of Llantwit Major Town Council, who invited a delegation from the local organising committee to attend a meeting.

Peter Davies, Glyn Jones and Rosaline Lewis were present.

Mr Davies outlined some of the history of the Eisteddfod, which dates back to the 12th century. He described plans for next year's event which takes place in Llandow.

The meeting heard that the National Eisteddfod last visited the Vale in 1968 and the 2012 event will take place from August 4-11.

Coverage will be broadcast by the BBC and it is their second biggest outside broadcast event – only beaten by Wimbledon.

Mrs Rosaline Lewis gave an explanation about local fundraising and said that the target for Llantwit Major was £42,000.

Coun Gwyn John also explained how the Eisteddfod came to be invited to the area by the Vale Council.

Later in the meeting, the town council agreed to donate £300 towards the Eisteddfod.

Councillor takes over as Vale Show president

THE committee of the Vale of Glamorgan Show were delighted when Coun Jeffrey James of Rhoose agreed to become the 2011 show president.

Coun James has attended the Vale Show for most of his life. He believes it is a "shop window for the highest quality of Vale farming, but it also reflects the rich community that the rural Vale represents".

Mr and Mrs Terry Griffin of Fonmon, who have organised the horticultural show for many years, were nominated as vice-presidents of the society – no-one could be more deserving of the honour.

Terry has been chairman of the horticultural section for many years, with Maureen as secretary. Both have worked tirelessly, growing the horticultural show into the spectacular event it has become on the show field. They are at present putting together the schedules for this year's horticultural show. Contact Maureen on 01446 711282 for full details.

Other vice-presidents nominated were the Mayor of the Vale and the Mayor of Cowbridge with Llanblethian Council.

The Vale Show will be held on Wednesday, August 10, at Fonmon Castle. Following such an excellent show last year, trade stand applications are flowing in, which bodes well for another excellent show.

Should anyone be interested in attending please email Nicola on vale.show@btinternet.com or look at our web site www.valeofglamorganshow.co.uk

The livestock and horse competition schedules are almost ready. If anyone would like to sponsor a class and receive all the benefits that offers, the society would love to hear from you on 01446 710099.

Highlights at the show this year will include a display in the main ring by The Royal Signals White Helmets motor cycle display team and a display by South Wales Police dogs.

With more than 250 trade stands to browse around, a dog show, livestock and many other events to see, it's a great day out for all the family, so put August 10 in the diary!

St Cadoc's teddy bears set for the high jump!

ST CADOC'S church (Old Village), Cadoxton, Barry is again holding its famous sponsored teddy bear parachute jump on Sunday, May 29, at 2pm.

Each daredevil bear will undergo a full medical in the state-of-the-art first aid tent prior to the jump to ensure they are fit to fly and on safe landing will be awarded a well deserved certificate of bravery.

Parachutes are provided and there will be a prize for the best dressed child's and adult's bear. So if you have a bear that would dare, sponsor forms are now available from St Cadoc's (Old Village) church, Cadoxton, Barry, or telephone 749689. The event will also include a barbecue and (new this year) a Gruffalo hunt!

Parishioners of St Cadoc's and St Mary's churches take part in the Samaritan's Purse Operation Christmas child shoebox appeal, and last year were able to send over 600 gift-filled shoeboxes to needy children in eastern Europe.

Summer term at Stagecoach begins this week

New students of all ages and abilities are welcome to start now!

Power for life

Delivering electricity to homes and businesses is about more than just cables and wires, poles and pylons. It's about providing people with a service that they can depend upon to help them live their lives to the full.

At Western Power Distribution we are investing many millions of pounds long-term on our electricity network to ensure all our customers continue to receive the same world class service.

We are proud to be leading the way in terms of customer service, network reliability, technical innovation and environmental care, but we are not complacent. This is why we will continue to set our own demanding performance targets and exceed those set by our industry regulator.

Our Target 60 initiative is a case in point, for when power interruptions occur its aim is to restore supplies within the first hour. This is a commitment our customers can depend upon.

From Billericay to Barry...

Richard's Gavin and Stacey marathon

ON Friday, May 27, Richard Kell will set off on a Bank Holiday journey with a difference.

As a fan of the cult BBC TV show Gavin and Stacey, Richard will recreate the 210 mile journey from Billericay, Essex to Barry Island travelled by the show's leading characters.

Richard will cover the distance on foot, running more than 50 miles a day before finishing on the beach at Barry Island on Bank Holiday Monday (May 30) to raise funds for Help for Heroes.

Having run a number of unique races for the charity in 2010, he was keen to think of a novel way to continue the quest in 2011.

Vale group calls for volunteer drivers to help

AN organisation which provides community transport in the Vale is appealing for volunteers to train as drivers.

Greenlinks Community Transport needs to expand its volunteer base as it is having a second vehicle.

The group has been operating a 13-seater mini-bus but is now having a seven-seat people carrier as well.

Greenlinks has a membership system and currently has 250 individual members and 30 group members.

Journeys range from taking people for hospital appointments and visits, visiting friends in care homes as well as taking people to social activities and shopping.

The organisation expects that the arrival of the second vehicle will boost demand for its services.

Rob Thomas, head of planning and transportation at the Vale Council, which set the group up, told community and town councils that the success of Greenlinks was dependent on the ability of the council to recruit volunteers to drive both vehicles.

The scheme cannot grow until a sufficiently large volunteer base has been built up.

The council is now seeking to recruit more volunteers drivers to run the service throughout the Rural Vale.

The council is offering free training and those who are successful will obtain a minibus driver awareness scheme certificate, which is a nationally recognised qualification.

Anyone wishing to become a volunteer can contact Graham Cartwright who is the Community Transport Officer on 01446-704870 or e-mail greenlinks@valeofglamorgan.gov.uk

Why Barry funeral home has life-saving machine

FORMER ambulance man-turned Barry undertaker, Lyndsay Ellis, has revealed why he has installed a defibrillator machine at his King Square funeral home.

The director of Park Independent Funeral Directors explained: "Barry is a very busy town centre and we have seen two cardiac arrests just opposite us outside the library in the last two months alone."

As a former ambulance man, he knows that when someone suffers a cardiac arrest, seconds are vital to save life and ensure a good recovery, and said that having the £1,200 defibrillator at his premises will ensure speedy public access to it for emergencies in the town centre.

"I've even experienced a cardiac arrest during a funeral. We were on our way to the crematorium when the brother of the deceased had a cardiac arrest in the car and needed emergency treatment.

"My goal is for all my staff to be trained in basic CPR, because knowing these things saves time and saves lives.

"After seeing so many incidents in town I approached Bryan Foley of the Barry Ambulance First Responder Scheme and asked what we could do.

"He told me about the scheme and I know some of the big name stores in town who were approached could not keep the defibrillator because of public liability concerns, so I said it could go here," he added.

PENARTH COMPUTER CLUB

Using spreadsheets for fun: 2 - Autoshapes

LAST time, I explained how to set up a tailored grid on an Excel worksheet. It can be used for a variety of purposes, but is quite useful as a background for planning of layouts.

The article is on www.penarthcomputerclub.co.uk under Forum entitled Using Spreadsheets for Fun (1) and a spreadsheet devoted to Autoshapes under Downloads, to get you started.

The next step is to create graphics (picture-models) as representations of the objects to be arranged.

Switch on the Drawing Toolbar by right-clicking on any blank area of any open toolbar and putting a tick alongside the Drawing toolbar on the drop-down list.

Autoshapes can be dragged and dropped onto your grid and manipulated into simple graphics to represent your object. You can make the images as simple or as complex as you wish.

Before you start to worry about all the work, let me assure you that once you have made an object it can be instantly replicated as many times as you like, so you have to construct only one of each. And it gets better.

When you have as many of each as you need, objects can be arranged easily within the layout.

As the objects and the layout are to the same scale, if they will not fit on the screen, they will not fit in real life.

Just like real life, your first layout might not be the best and you might want to try another one or more.

No problem at all. Your first attempt will be on what Excel calls a Worksheet, and you can easily replicate the whole sheet – complete with the grid already made and populated by all the objects made for the first sheet.

A miniature sheet appears with the cursor. (You can now drag the sheet sideways to change the order.)

If you hold down the control key as you drag the sheet, you will notice a tiny '+' sign on the miniature sheet.

This indicates that the format and contents of the sheet will be replicated when you release it. You now have a duplicate sheet and can shuffle objects around to try another layout.

Double-click in any tab to edit its name, say, Layout A, and then Layout B and so on until you have settled on the most suitable one and label that one Final, or something similar.

The real benefit of this is that you can instantly return to an earlier layout for comparison to remind yourself of the points it brought out and why you tried something else. And how hard you have worked!

Do play with Autoshapes. They are incredibly versatile, useful and really great fun.

We next meet on Tuesday, May 10, at All Saints Lesser Hall at 7.30 pm for 8pm. Making better use of Auto-correction and more about Keyboard shortcuts. Telephone 029 20708439 for more information .

THE MARKET PLACE

The Market Place launches their garden terrace

New terrace at The Market Place will open up a world of alfresco dining

BUSINESSES like to say they are part of the community, but in the case of the Market Place in Cowbridge that is quite literally true.

You see, the restaurant borders Cowbridge's historic town walls – and the Market Place has been involved in rebuilding the walls in its immediate vicinity so that they blend in with the recent refurbishment that has taken place around the Old Hall Gardens.

In fact, now that Peter and Tim Marriott have created their own garden terrace, you can reach out and touch those walls as you relax in the sheltered oasis that will offer the best in al fresco dining.

It is two years since Peter and Tim took over the Market Place, with Tim as the proprietary chef and his father Peter assisting in the business side of the venture, and the garden terrace was in their plans from day one.

However, it was first necessary to build a reputation and a solid client base, and Tim's cuisine skills have taken care of that. Having worked in a number of acclaimed restaurants in London, Tim's vision was to offer that sort of wide-ranging imaginative menu, but with a reputation for offering value for money.

That aim has been achieved, with customers travelling from Cardiff, Swansea and some are now coming from Bristol, as well visitors and tourists to the area, and the Market Place's many customers from the Vale.

The garden terrace will offer all of these diners the chance to enjoy fine food in an idyllic summer setting.

Massive glass doors have been installed and, when the weather allows, the garden restaurant will open out onto the terrace, which is bordered by topiary enclosures.

Tim believes that it will be a perfect place for people to drop in for late morning coffee or afternoon or early evening drinks – as well as for lunch and evening meals.

When I visited the garden terrace, I was struck by how peaceful it was. The high thick walls keep traffic noise out completely, and it feels like a stately courtyard in a country mansion.

The Market Place for exquisite al fresco dining

THE MARKET PLACE

Introducing the Garden Wine Bar . . .

ANOTHER development nearing completion has been to convert the upstairs bar area into an intimate, relaxing wine bar designed in keeping with the period aspects of the building. The Garden Wine Bar will be offering bin ends wine from the restaurant wine list at very attractive prices.

For instance, a bottle that was £15 during its time on the menu will be available in the wine bar for around £9.95 or by the glass, and there will also be a choice of quality wines, a selection of terrace cocktails and new range of beers of the world.

The Garden Wine Bar will have another advantage of course, a fine view over old Cowbridge, and from a unique viewpoint.

Peter Marriott told The GEM that considerable time, care and investment had been expended in achieving a development that will enhance the existing wonderful historic building, while providing the new cutting edge terrace and garden wine bar facilities.

"We see it as an investment in Cowbridge as well as investing in our own business. I do not believe that business in Cowbridge should rely solely on the town to bring in customers. We need to offer something extra to bring in more!"

However, the best setting in the world will not prosper if the food disappoints, and Tim and his team will be carrying on the good work, with mouth watering items on the menu such as a terrine of smoke salmon, tiger prawns, smoked mackerel, cream cheese and caper dressing, or char-grilled calves liver and bacon with mustard mash and onion jus – and those are just on the Early Early Supper set menu! (£10.95, two course, 6.00 pm - 6.55 pm, Tuesday - Friday).

There is a fixed price lunch menu every day, two courses for £12.95 and three courses for £15.95) and you can also choose from the terrace dishes such as main course crispy duck and rocket salad with parmesan and truffle oil at £7.95 or indeed mozzarella, tomato and pesto gourmet burger with hand cut chips at £9.75.

Move on to the a la carte menu and there are plenty of dishes that excite, whether it be the roasted rump of lamb with feta and sundried tomato dauphinoise potato, tapenade and seasonal greens or Rosemary braised pork belly with mustard, herbs and liver sausage, mash potato and crackling.

So, The Market Place is now offering fine al fresco dining and new intimate garden wine bar in a tranquil and civilised setting. The fine weather arrived early this year, so Peter and Tim, in particular, have a good reason for hoping it continues.

Bridgend Rotarians take young carers for a great day out at the Amelia Trust Farm

BRIDGEND Rotarians recently sponsored 11 young carers (aged 8 to 13) from Bridgend borough on a day out at The Amelia Farm Trust.

"These amazing young people each have extreme responsibility, often accompanied by trauma, yet on their day out were the kindest group of children you could wish for, with respect for each other and those around them.

"It was really great to see them behave as children for the day, and Bridgend Rotarians hope they had great fun, and look forward to taking them again, and hosting their Christmas parties."

The photos show them 'playing' and enjoying their activities.

BARRY CAMERA CLUB CELEBRATES THE LAST SNAPS OF THE SEASON

BARRY Camera Club's last monthly competition of the season took place on Friday, April 29 and was adjudicated by Kevin Thomas, who has enjoyed his numerous visits to our club over the years and was once again made very welcome.

Kevin is very knowledgeable in the world of photography and has gained an FRPS and an MA in photography, so we felt in very safe hands. He commented on the wide range of subject matter and enjoyed perusing them, and deciding on the following winners:

In the monochrome print category, in third place was by Low Tide Ravenglas by Rob Owens. Second place was shared by First Light and Watching, both by Brian Trego, who has consistently shown his skill during this season's competition, achieving some very good scores.

The first place went to Stradbally Strand by Rob Owens – a scenic beach across which can be seen a captivating sky.

In the colour print category, third place was shared by four images – Old Barn Door by Kathy Edwards, Norwegian Church by Frank Cleland, Tuscan Farmstead by Barbra Archdale-Smith and Cheeky Ladies by Hugh Winnan.

Second place was also shared by four images, Llyn Cynwch 2 by Rob Owens, Abandoned by Brian Trego, River Deep Mountain High by Allan Preece and Kiosk Meeting Place by Barbra Archdale-Smith.

The winner was Captain And Ship by Mac Britton – an innovative title for this image of an Arab and his camel.

In the projected images category, in joint third place were Floating Away by Ceri Ford and Hanging On by Frank Cleland. In second place was Zap Cat by Frank Cleland.

The winner was All The Kings Horses by Hugh Winnan – colour is the dominant ingredient in this image.

This time around we have seen some new faces in first, second and third places – well done. Virginia Kolmar entered a monochrome image of Tenby on a still, but dull day. It was entitled Tranquil and was Virginia's first foray into a club competition.

Rob Owens kindly gave Kevin Thomas a vote of thanks to round off the evening.

Barry Camera Club meets every Friday evening from 7pm-9.30pm between September and May at St Francis Millennium Centre, Porth-y-Castell, Barry Garden Suburb, Barry. New members are always welcome to attend with no obligation to join.

Jack (8) plays in special London concert

AN eight-year-old schoolboy from Barry will take part in a mass concert by 100 pianists later this month.

International pianist Lang Lang will lead them at the Royal Festival Hall in London, as part of the 'Lang Lang Inspires' series of concerts.

Jack Ollier, who attends All Saints Church in Wales Primary school in Barry, was selected from hundreds of other keen young pianists from all over the UK.

Music by Beethoven, Schubert and Wagner has been specially arranged for the youngsters, who will play on 50 grand pianos.

Jack, who also plays descant recorder, clarinet and drums, said he was "very excited" to be part of the project.

His mother, Jo Weaving, who is also his teacher, said: "It is an amazing opportunity for any young musician.

"I am very proud that Jack has been chosen and can't wait to see him on stage."

The excitement doesn't stop there though. Jack took part in the South Glamorgan Festival for Young Musicians at The Cathedral School, in Cardiff over the bank holiday weekend.

He won the gold medal and the Music Direct trophy in the junior piano year-3 class, and the silver medal in the junior woodwind class (years 3–6).

Jack impressed woodwind adjudicator James Stretton so much that he has been invited to perform 'Steam Train Blues' by Christopher Norton, on the descant recorder, at the Festival Gala Concert in United Reform Church, Windsor Place, in Cardiff on Saturday, May 7.

Arming the Few – a question for local historian

PENARTH AVIATION SOCIETY

IT was 71 years ago this July when the Battle of Britain began.

The RAF was ready to defend the country with squadrons of fighter aircraft and the men to fly them – but were our aeroplanes adequately armed with the firepower needed to take on the enemy?

Some modern historians argue that the RAF was not well prepared because the fighters lacked adequate arms.

Mac Tanner who will be speaking to Penarth Aviation Society on Friday, May 6, on the subject, 'Arming for the Battle of Britain – a Vindication', takes a contrary view based on his research which, he says, revealed some surprising and little-known facts.

Penarth Aviation Society meets on the first Friday of every month at 7.45pm in the Penarth Conservative Club. Visitors are welcome.

HOW many swallows make a summer?

It has been brought to my notice that swallows were seen near the barn at Crwys Cwtta Farm, St Brides Major, on April 15.

On checking my nature notes, I found that swallows were seen in Dunraven gardens on the morning of April 13, 2009.

GLAMORGAN PONY CLUB'S ANNUAL PRESENTATION TO AWARD WINNERS

A host of winners were recognised at the awards ceremony.

Riders who passed the BHS Riding and Road Safety examinations

GLAMORGAN Pony Club held their fifth annual presentation and AGM at the Bonvilston Reading Rooms recently.

The club president, Mr Mike Gibbon MFH, welcomed everyone and introduced the new district commissioner, Annie Whitehouse, and assistant Sian Dix.

Annie started by going through what we had been doing throughout the year, including rallies, camps, competitions, training and exams.

She especially mentioned members who had passed their Pony Club riding and road safety exams; Jess Tidely and Megan Allman, and the following who also went on to pass the BHS road rider exam: Bethan Allman, Ellie Dix, Lauren Hooper, Louise Edwards, and Bethany Jarvis.

Tetrathlon team manager Phil Thomas gave a brief talk on the sport and thanked our current tetrathletes for their efforts; Becky Thomas, Genevieve Kirk, Victoria Shaw, Ela and Sanant Callow.

Mike introduced the speaker, Mr Jackie Thomas, joint master of the Glamorgan Hunt.

Jackie entertained us with an informative talk on hunting and encouraged more of our members to hunt with him next season.

Jackie then went on to present certificates to acknowledge the efforts of members. These were – For enthusiasm and improvement: Beth Crockford, Owen John, Brannwen Clay and Grace Gardner; .

Most improved rider, Nina Revera

Best attendance over 12, Ellie Dix

Best tack and turn out, Chloe Watkins

Best attendance under 12, Josie Dix

Area dressage – Nonni Medlicott (Novice), Alice Pembridge, Jess Tidley and Bethany Jarvis (Intermediate – team fourth) and Emma Lockwood (Open – fourth).

Area eventing – (Pre-Novice) Ellie Medlicott (first), Evie Vaughan-Jones (fifth), (Novice) Bethany Jarvis, Alice Pembridge and Ellie Dix, (Intermediate) Jess Tidley.

Area show jumping - Novice: Ellie Dix, Ellie Medlicott, Alice Pembridge and Bethany Jarvis (Team first and second in tack and turnout). Intermediate, Jess Tidley.

Also, our team of show jumpers (Bethany Jarvis, Alice Pembridge, Ellie Dix and Ellie Medlicott) who went on to represent the club at the national Pony Club championships in Cheshire; they were not placed but enjoyed the experience and came sixth in the tack and turnout.

Jackie then presented our cups:

12 and under attendance went to Josie Dix, Over 12 attendance, Ellie Dix.

12 and under tack and turnout, Emily Reynolds

Over 12 tack and turnout, Chloe Watkins.

Most improved rider, Nina Revera, Tippy Toes Cup for representing the Pony Club the most times was shared between Alice Pembridge and Bethany Jarvis.

The evening was closed with a word of thanks from Annie to all members, coaches, parents and grandparents for their support and help throughout the year.

Recent news is that Genevieve Kirk finished third in the area tetrathlon and had the best run – well done.

Also, we are very proud that Bethan Allman and Bethany Jarvis passed their B test.

We meet every Wednesday at Spring Meadows in Llandow for coaching from lead rein, right up to B test plus standard – please come along to see what we do if you are interested in joining.

In the school holidays, we hold all day rallies every Tuesday in various places from local venues to Leyland Court.

If you are interested, please contact Annie Whitehouse on 01656 862307. JJ

Bridgend and Vale councils to collaborate in enforcing car parking restrictions...

BRIDGEND and Vale of Glamorgan Councils are collaborating over plans to take on civil enforcement of parking.

Both councils are preparing applications to the Welsh Assembly Government to be designated civil enforcement areas. This would give them the power to enforce parking restrictions by employing their own council wardens. The police have not enforced parking restrictions since January 1.

Miles Punter, head of Visible Services for the Vale, said that the Vale cabinet had approved an application to WAG to be submitted later this year once a review of parking restrictions had been completed. If WAG approves the application, the council would be able to employ wardens from the start of the 2012 financial year in April.

He went on: " The council is currently working on this project with Bridgend County Borough Council, which is also submitting an application to WAG for civil enforcement powers.

"It is hoped that this partnership approach will provide reduce set-up and operational costs and improvements in the quality of the enforcement services that will ultimately be provided."

A spokesman for Bridgend said that civil enforcement powers for car parking is one of the areas being looked at as part of the Memorandum of Understanding between BCBC and the Vale Council.

This memorandum allows both councils to examine ways in which services to residents can be improved through close partnership working on joint projects.

The statement added: "A report on the possibility of undertaking civil enforcement powers for car parking is being prepared and will be discussed at a future meeting of cabinet."

Remembering the Great War Of 1914-1918 at Fortress Wales 20111

DURING the May Bank Holiday weekend, several members of the south Wales branch of the Western Front Association took part in the annual Fortress Wales event held at Margam Park.

Members of the public had lots of questions to ask at theWestern Front Association's display.

Over the course of two days, visitors were able to see re-enactment displays which covered a multitude of periods, from the Roman era right through to the Falklands Campaign.

Barry members Paul Kemp, Alun Robertson and Jonathan Hicks staged an indoor static display of artefacts, memorabilia and militaria associated with the Great War.

"We had an excellent response from the hundreds of people who visited our display," said Jonathan Hicks.

"People of all ages were genuinely interested in all of the items we had on show. As usual, our free family history research service was inundated with requests from relatives who wanted to know what their family members had done during the Great War.

"As a headmaster, it was also heartening to me to see the enthusiasm for the period from youngsters.

"Despite what one reads in the press, there is a genuine love of history amongst schoolchildren – it is an extremely popular GCSE option subject in many schools in south Wales – and this was reflected on the day.

"We were also pleased by the knowledge that the youngsters had of the period. Good teaching is getting the message across!

"On display were collections of medals, plaques and badges, many of them associated with the three Welsh regiments, plus uniforms, weapons and kit of not just the British Army, but this year the French Army as well.

"Our display on the attack on Mametz Wood aroused great interest and left people with a sombre feeling for the sacrifice made. We felt at the end of the two days that we had fulfilled our organisation's aim of 'Remembering' and look forward to participating again next year."

The next event for the branch will be Armed Forces Day in the grounds of Cardiff Castle in June.

Jonathan Hicks's new crime novel 'The Dead of Mametz', which is set in Barry in 1916, is to be published by the Welsh Books Council in May. Copies can be ordered now through booksellers or Amazon.

He will be signing copies of his new novel at Barry Library at midday on Saturday May 21.

Dyffryn Gardens puts on its very best face – and offers a warm welcome to Vale visitors

IN recent years, a great deal of renovation work has taken place at Dyffryn Gardens, and an early spring event, designed to let people have a good look around, was blessed with warm weather.

Local photographer Paul Jones popped in to have a look around, and found many families enjoying the pristine gardens in the sunshine, and staff and volunteers willing to help with any questions from visitors.

"There were activities for the children, including crafts and face-painting and everyone seemed to be thoroughly enjoying the occasion," he reported.

Walkers take a stroll in the sun through 'waterfall country' around Neath

SUNSHINE surrounded the 10 walkers, who included leader Clive, as they journeyed down to the Neath Valley for a trip around what is commonly known as 'waterfall country'.

The area around Pontneddfechan is one of the few places around the world where sandstone has been worked in underground mines.

Parking near the Angel Inn, the group set off through a gate beside the towering Black Rock and walked the left bank of the Nedd Fechan River with its small waterfalls tumbling beneath trees in leaf after the long winter months.

The first waterfall they encountered was Sgwd Gwladys or the Lady Falls, formed by water flowing over sandstone.

Walking upstream, the group came to the Horseshoe fall, aptly named by its shape, and surrounded by oak trees, and then the Ddwli falls that are composed of upper and lower waterfalls.

A break between the falls.

Tramping along the undulating river bank they reached Pont Melin-fach and crossing the bridge, a short piece of road-walking followed before they joined a pathway and tree-lined gorges to the Afon Mellte River.

The next falls were Sgwd Clun-gwyn, or White Meadow, and Sgwd yr Eira or Fall of Snow, on the Afon Hepste River.

They left the valley and continued down through woodland at Cilhepste fach and Cilhepste cerig to reach Dinas Rock, or Craig y Ddinas, meaning Fortress Rock, a favourite with rock climbers.

The group headed downstream and another small bridge led to a road back to Pontneddfechan.

On May 7, meet at 8.30am at Cogan Leisure Centre for a 9.5-mile mod/hard walk in the Malvern Hills; contact Phil on 01446 711533.

On May 8, meet at 9am at Cogan for a 9-mile moderate circular walk from Skenfrith to Garway Hill; contact Nick on 01446 420540.

On May 12, the first summer evening walk will leave All Saints Church, Park Road, Barry at 7pm promptly, for a four-mile easy tramp at Porthkerry; contact Val W on 01446 734925.

AN INSPIRATIONAL MAN OF BARRY WHO WAS ONE OF THE LOST GENERATION

Local military historian and Headteacher of St Cyres Comprehensive School, Dr Jonathan Hicks, tells the story of another man's sacrifice during the First World War.

Dr Jonathan Hicks.

Second Lieutenant Timothy Davies Williams.

RIGHT: Varennes Cemetery.

ON Sunday, April 7, a telegram was delivered to Eleanor Louisa Williams at 3 Kingsland Road, Canton in Cardiff, where she was staying with a friend.

The telegram read: Deeply regret 2nd Lt T D Williams RGA 248 Siege Battery died of wounds fifth. The Army Council expresses sympathy.

Eleanor Williams had lost her husband of nearly nine years; Barry County School had lost one of its most inspirational teachers.

Timothy Davies Williams was born in Hawden le West, County Durham on July 25, 1883. His father Charles was from Mold in Flintshire and was working as a coal miner in Durham, though he later took Holy Orders. His father died when Timothy was only seven years old and the family moved to Caio in Carmarthenshire.

Educated at Llandilo County School, where he became a pupil teacher in 1901, he was then admitted to University College, Aberystwyth where he graduated with an honours degree in history in 1906 and then taught for two years in Bridgwater.

In August 1909, he married Louisa, as she preferred to be known, at Caio Church. That year he was also appointed history master at Barry County School and the couple moved to a house on Tynewydd Road in Barry named 'Vesta'.

He enlisted in April 1916, aged 32, having served with the 5th Battalion of the South Wales Borderers as a volunteer prior to the war. He was appointed to the 2nd Field Company of the Glamorgan Royal Engineers as a sapper and was stationed in Britain until August 1917. In March 1917, he applied for admission to an Officer Cadet Unit to train for a commission.

He obtained his commission and was gazetted 2nd Lieutenant with the Royal Garrison Artillery on 4 August 1917. Williams served in France and Flanders from the following September, taking part in much severe fighting.

Williams was wounded during the Kaiserschlacht, the German Spring Offensive, at the Battle of Bapaume in 1918. He had been in an observation post, spotting for the battery's guns, when he was hit, probably by shellfire. He died of his wounds on April 5, 1918, aged 34, at Number 37 Field Ambulance, west of Albert.

His battery commander wrote to Louisa: "It was dear old Williams to whom I went many a time for advice in many of the difficult situations in which we found ourselves, and on one occasion it was entirely through acting on his advice, and without orders from my Commanding Officer, that I got the battery away before our retreat was cut off. Also, on the morning of 21st March, when we came in for the full share of the battle, I called for volunteers to man the guns.

"Your husband and another officer immediately went out and did most useful work under intense shellfire, and by their coolness and devotion to duty set a splendid example to their men.

"I can only repeat from the fullness of my heart, that the battery has lost one of the very best officers it has ever had, and that I have lost one of the very best friends and a brother officer. We all deemed it an honour to know your husband. He always made everything brighter for those with whom he worked and he could always be relied upon to do more than his share."

He had seen fierce fighting in Flanders during his first months abroad and had come through the German offensive unscathed up to April 5.

He had already won the praise and commendation of his superior officers for his calmness in the stress of the attack, and for the skill with which he had performed the work entrusted to him.

Another fellow officer paid tribute: "He had done magnificent work at the front and will be sorely missed by the officers of his battery, who often found his advice invaluable and who regarded him with peculiar affection and respect. His splendid courage and coolness in danger were an inspiration alike to officers and men."

The local press paid a glowing tribute to him as well: "Mr Williams' death is a loss, not only to Barry, but to Wales. For nearly seven years he was history master in the County School at Barry and while there he did a work which cannot be too highly praised.

"As a teacher of history he was unsurpassed in the County Schools of Wales, and his pupils owe him a debt of gratitude which they can never express or repay.

"Not only had he a conception of history such as is rarely found, but he also possessed the power of imparting that conception to others. Nor are the successes of his pupils the only way in which Mr Williams' work is to be judged.

"His keen intellect, his ready wit, his power of inspiration which it would be difficult to surpass, have left their impression upon hundreds of boys and girls who have obtained no academic distinction, but who will contribute a richer share to the life of the State because of their contact with a great and noble personality.

"Mr Williams' pupils, colleagues, and friends would be unwilling to let this moment pass without expressing their deepest sympathy with his widow, and at the same time attempting some appreciation, inadequate as it must be, of a work which will live after its author.

"Although he was but 34 years of age, he had lived his life fully and well, and he died as he had lived, fighting as he had always fought, against injustice and wrong, giving, as he had always given, freely and unsparingly, his best to the community in which he lived. His was indeed a life without fear and without reproach."

Timothy Davies Williams was buried in Varennes British Cemetery which is north-west of Albert. On his headstone Louisa had the following touching words inscribed: 'Remembering you I will be brave and strong'.

He is commemorated on the Barry County School Memorial which now hangs near the foyer of Barry Comprehensive School, and on the Roll of Honour in Barry Memorial Hall.

His name is on the Caio Memorial and a brass plaque was dedicated to him at Caio Church, Carmarthenshire. It was unveiled by Major Edgar Jones MA OBE, the Headmaster of Barry County School.

One of the lost generation killed during the Great War: an inspirational teacher, an intellectual and a leader of men.

• Jonathan Hicks's new crime novel 'The Dead of Mametz', part of which is set in Barry in 1916, is being published by the Welsh Books Council this month Copies can be ordered now through booksellers or Amazon.

He will be signing copies of his new novel at Barry Library at midday on Saturday, May 21.

Community rallies to a funds-hit youth project

COMMUNITY volunteers at the Drop In Centre on Thompson Street estate, Barry, have worked hard to keep the work of the CYPIC project (Children and Young People in the Community) going following a disappointing result to a recent funding application.

The community has rallied round to keep open the popular Friday Night Club, football club and a range of other activities by taking on the work while alternative options for funding can be found.

During the Easter holidays, volunteers held a number of events at the local Castleland Community Centre that included: an Easter Bonnet competition, pool tournament, an arts and crafts competition as well as several sporting events that saw young people playing five-a-side football, cricket and touch and tag rugby.

Coach Matthew Dee had also introduced exercise and fitness sessions as part of the project's health and well being programme.

With loyal support from more than eighty young people, the hard work was more than worthwhile! The community has also received a promise of support from Newydd Housing Association, the estate landlords who have agreed to fund a tutor for body art and make up sessions for the girls as well as a second hand pool table to allow the club to enter the local league.

The Drop In Centre manager and the CYPIC project's lead volunteer are meeting with the Vale of Glamorgan's principal youth officer next week to explore ways in which appropriate funding can be identified to take the project forward.

Eileen Moore, the Drop In Centre manager, explained: "This is truly what community work is about.

Whilst we still need funding and the support of paid workers for the long term, I am so proud to be part of a community that is willing to put itself out to support us.

"A special thank you must go to our regular young people volunteers Gareth, Geraint, Joshua and Callum who helped the grown ups to set up and run our holiday events!"

"Thanks to everyone for their continued support and, hopefully we will be successful in our efforts to keep the CYPIC project going for the future."

Anastasia adds a finishing touch

ANASTASIA Beads first opened its doors in May 2009, specialising in the supply of world-wide beads and findings to the jewellery-making public.

Situated at 8, High Street, in Barry, Anastasia's has gone from strength-to-strength.

The shop takes great pride in having taught many Barry residents the art of jewellery making and design, and having helped to add that unique finishing touch to that special occasion outfit.

With the high demand for bespoke jewellery, fascinators and jewellery repairs, Anastasia's are proud to announce the opening of their second shop at 5 Windsor Arcade in Penarth.

The new shop will continue to offer their unique bespoke jewellery and fascinator design for that special outfit, as well as their adult and children's classes and parties.

The new shop opened its doors on May 3 and at the same time, Anastasia's has become the official stockist for Pilgrim jewellery – both at Barry and Penarth.

The Windsor Arcade already houses some of the area's best bespoke shops and Anastasia's feel it is the perfect home for their second outlet.

Why all herbal medicines will be registered

Many people may have seen in the news that new legislation came into force on May 1 which requires medicinal herbal products to be registered.

Nicky Foster of Health Conscious in Llantwit Major explained: "As a consumer, you will find that most products will remain on the shelves until the old stock is used up and then new registered products will replace them. Many products are already registered.

"The most noticeable difference that you will see is that these registered products will now carry an indication, allowing you to see easily what the product is for, and information on how to use the product safely."

Time to plan ahead with PASSMORES – make a 'Lasting Power of Attorney'

LAWYERS around Wales and Englandare running a national 'Make a Lasting Power of Attorney' campaign to encourage all people to plan ahead to avoid problems if they later lose mental capacity.

It means making a Lasting Power of Attorney (LPA) on the new version of the forms, which came into force in October 2009.

A Lasting Power of Attorney is a legal document that enables one person to make decisions on behalf of another.

There are two types of LPA: financial and welfare. Financial LPAs enables a person to act on behalf of another if, for example, they are ill or disabled and cannot act for themselves.

A welfare LPA enables a person to act on behalf of another if that person does not have the mental capacity to act for themselves, for example, in the case of a severe stroke.

Without an LPA, it may be necessary for family members to apply to the Court of Protection for authority. This can be a distressing and lengthy process and is far more expensive than making an LPA.

Once all parties have signed the LPA, they must then be registered with the Office of the Public Guardian before they can be used.

Carli Evans of Passmores Solicitors and a member of Solicitors for the Elderly is actively encouraging all people to plan ahead and make Lasting Powers of Attorneys.

People wishing to discuss their requirements should contact Carli Evans to arrange a suitable no obligation appointment on 01446 721000 or by email ce@passmores.com

Healthy, thrifty, and the ethical way to eat!

ORGANIC vegbox company Riverford on Wash Farm, believes that eating better quality, higher-welfare meat, less often and in smaller quantities is a healthy, thrifty and ethical way to eat this year.

"Meat and 10 veg is our philosophy on how to eat meat in a sensible way and save money," says Chris and Alison Moruzzi who deliver Riverford vegboxes in this area.

"Eat a small amount of good quality, ideally organic, meat and let the veg be the star of the show.

"It also makes good economic sense. A steak supper for six is likely to be painful on the wallet; a beef stir fry packed with vegetables is not."

Riverford has devised a fortnight's worth of meals that embrace the meat and 10 veg philosophy.

A GROUP of long-time friends will join the Ty Hafan Midnight Sleep Walk in Cardiff on Saturday, May 13, as a way to celebrate four birthdays and a forthcoming wedding!

"We have four birthdays to celebrate around the time of the event so we thought it would be a great excuse to get together while supporting a fantastic charity at the same time", explained Liz Rawlins who will turn 24 a few days before the event.

"Plus with one of us getting married later in the summer, it's a perfect chance for us to have a practice girls' night out!"

One of those taking part is Jemma King, who has a five-year-old disabled son called Cameron, and-knows first-hand how hard it can be to wake every few hours throughout the night, but still have to get on with things the next day.

"Although Cameron has never needed the high level of care Ty Hafan offers children and their families, I can completely sympathise with mums whose children have been diagnosed with a life-limiting condition who need 24/7 care", said Jemma.

"If giving up a just a few hours sleep means that we can help Ty Hafan offer mothers the care and support they need to get a well-earned extra few hours sleep, we can't think of a better way to spend our night, or a better reason to walk those 8 miles!"

Anyone wishing to take part in the Cardiff, Swansea or Severn Bridge Midnight Sleep Walks can register at www.midnightsleepwalk.co.uk or contact 029 2067 2065.

by GARETH JAMIESON

SINCE the success of Iron Man in 2008, Marvel have been confident enough to bring as many of their comic-book heroes to the big screen as possible.

While contractual obligations mean that the X-Men and Spiderman are absent from their plans (though both will be returning to cinemas),with the likes of Captain America, a third Iron Man outing and the superhero team-up of The Avengers all due, it's the turn of one of their lesser-known heroes to take centre stage.

Thor tells the story of the titular character (played by Chris Hemsworth), an Asgaardian warrior cast out by his father Odin (Anthony Hopkins) to earth.

As he learns about his new surroundings, thanks to Jane Foster (Natalie Portman), he soon finds himself facing his brother Loki (Tom Hiddleston) who plans to unleash all manner of evil in order to take the throne of Asgaard for his own nefarious plans...

While comic book movies have become all the rage in recent times, it is the choice of director for these films that has been most impressive.

Opting to go for substantial storytelling as much as spectacle, the likes of Chris Nolan, Bryan Singer and Sam Raimi have all moved from serious fare to comic spectacle and emerged unscathed at the other.

None other than Kenneth Branagh is the latest to join this gang, and he too will be able to hold his head high come the roll of the end credits – his take on Thor a thrilling spectacle of a film that will entertain and impress throughout.

While Branagh's hiring may have caused some consternation, it is pretty much forgotten once the film kicks in. He marshals the action set-pieces with a quiet confidence, never going too over the top and grounding the action within the film.

His affinity with Mr Shakespeare also comes to the fore, the narrative spilling over with familial angst and troublesome father-son relationships that allow Branagh's bard knowledge to come in very handy.

Similarly, there is a lightness of touch prevalent with the likes of Iron Man that means while things are prone to getting serious, there are plenty of lighter moments to keep the viewer engaged.

This ability to switch between the dramatic and comedic is typified by Chris Hemsworth's wonderful turn as the titular hero.

Perhaps best known as Captain Kirk's father in the reboot of the Star Trek franchise in 2009, Hemsworth grabs the opportunity with both hands here.

He shows a flair for muscle-bound heroics as well as strong comedic timing with some cracking one-liners, the screenplay and his performance wringing the most out of the 'fish out of water' situation.

The performances around him are all strong, with Tom Hiddleston mainlining manipulative mischief as Loki, Natalie Portman carrying off the love interest role with easy style, while Anthony Hopkins and Stellan Skarsgard offer gravitas in their roles.

Most entertaining is Kat Dennings as Portman's assistant, whose snarky wit deserves a greater chunk of the screen time.

While it has avoided the pitfall of Iron Man 2 in terms of doubling as a trailer for forthcoming Marvel outings (save for a cameo appearance from a certain Avenger and a post-credit sequence that sets up that film), even with a run time of nearly two hours it feels a little condensed at times.

There is so much to fit in that some characters are short-changed, while the story cannot afford the space needed to really make the characters sing.

That being said, Thor is still a spritely effort that maintains Marvel's march on cinemas, to be continued later this summer with Captain America – and his Asgaardian counterpart has certainly laid down the marker.

VERDICT: A superb introduction to a previously unknown character, Thor is a wonderful slice of comic book entertainment, thanks in no small part to Kenneth Branagh's smart direction and a raft of pleasing turns.

While this may be the Asgaardian's first big screen outing, it certainly won't be his last. Recommended.

Conservation and magic combine – for a great stamp prize!

ROYAL MAIL is offering a double treat for readers in the latest stamp competition – with the chance to win not one, but two, special stamp prizes.

The two sets of stamps are celebratory issues – one for the 50th anniversary of the World Wildlife Fund, featuring African elephants, a Siberian tiger and an Iberian lynx.

The second special commemorative issue is Magical Realms, featuring eight wizard and explorer stamps, including Merlin and Voldemort.

Magical Realms is a combination of film imagery and newly commissioned work featuring the myths and legends of King Arthur (Merlin and Morgan le Fay), the Narnia stories of CS Lewis (Aslan and The White Witch), JK Rowling's Harry Potter series (Dumbledore and Lord Voldemort) and two characters from Sir Terry Pratchett's Discworld (Rincewind and Nanny Ogg).

To win a combined set of Magical Realms and WWF stamps in special presentation packs, simply answer the following question:

Which of these is not a wizard in Harry Potter?

A .Paul Daniels
B. Voldermort
C. Dumbledore?

Answers on a postcard to Stamp Competition, Glamorgan GEM, Graig House, 53 Eastgate, Cowbridge, CF71 7EL, no later than Friday, May 13.

Watch out for the next Royal Mail competition when we give readers the chance to win a commemorative presentation set of the Royal Wedding stamps featuring Prince William and his new bride Catherine Middleton.

Last coffee

THE Mayor of Cowbridge with Llanblethian, Coun Len Taylor, invites the public to support his final coffee morning this coming Saturday, May 7, from 10.30am to 12.30pm in the Mayor's Parlour.

All proceeds will go to top up his chosen charity, Cowbridge Comp 2010, and he is expecting a young harpist from the comprehensive school to be performing in the council chamber during the morning.

Love, laughter and cheers marked a glorious Royal Wedding day that began with a journey from London's Goring Hotel for beautiful bride Kate Middleton and ended in a celebration and waves to the crowd from the balcony at Buckingham Palace

"Tell each other you love each other every day. Rock on!"

• MET ON MATCH IN 2009 AND NOW PLANNING THEIR WEDDING •

The happiness and joy of their Big Day is clear to see on the faces of Prince William and Kate as they return to Buckingham Palace in an open-top carriage as man and wife

Day of love and joy sealed with kisses

Not one, but two kisses sealed the most romantic day of the year. As William and Kate appeared on the Palace balcony, crowds surged forward to watch the new Duke and Duchess of Cambridge share their love with millions of people across the world.

The weather may have been grey, but the mood was bright from the start as 1,900 guests, including Sir Elton John, David and Victoria Beckham and Prime Minister David Cameron, filtered into the maple tree filled splendour of Westminster Abbey, where scenes of excited chatter were already being broadcast to royal fans.

Prince William and brother Prince Harry arrived right on time in a shiny, burgundy chauffeur-driven Bentley, exuding an air of suppressed excitement before heading into St Edmund's chapel to await the royal bride. An hour later, like a modern day Grace Kelly, the future Queen of England, Kate Middleton, 29, stepped out of her Rolls-Royce Phantom with father Michael, in a Fifties-style ivory gown with lace applique floral detail, designed by Sarah Burton at Alexander McQueen. Kate's glossy brown hair was covered with a romantic veil held in place by a delicate tiara and her confident, classic style choice instantly confirmed her place as the nation's sweetheart.

As Kate reached the altar, where Archbishop Rowan Williams met the couple, Prince William couldn't contain his happiness and the world watched as he whispered the words Kate had been waiting to hear: "You look beautiful".

While the bride remained composed, only flashing that trademark smile occasionally, the 28-year-old Prince was unable to contain his joy as smile after smile spread across his face.

Yet, once seated in the open-top carriage the Duchess of Cambridge, the newest member of the royal family, began to beam with happiness. The sun came out for the royal couple and sitting in their magical State Landau they were greeted by screams of joy from thrilled fans, as they travelled another mile on a romantic journey that began at St Andrews University eight years ago.

Just over an hour later, Kate and William stepped on to the royal balcony at Buckingham Palace looking very relaxed, surrounded by their families. Like William's parents Prince Charles and Lady Di-ana 30 years ago, the couple were happy to respond to an ecstatic public, crying out for a public display of affection.

But once they'd sealed their love, and the traditional fly past of a Spitfire and other aircraft had taken place, Kate was concerned about one flower girl who clearly found it all rather too noisy. Looking at William, she gestured to the little girl with an intimate, loving smile.

Surely another addition to the royal household is just a matter of time.

Quality Welsh Beds
Hand Built By Craftsmen

The Bed Company Wales invites you to take a peek at its hand made beds inside its Cardiff Workshop...

Company Director, John Nathan Davies, is an individual with a driving passion for bespoke, made to measure divan beds.
The Company was founded more than ten years ago by a group of individuals who were made redundant, when Best Beyond Beds closed.
"What sets us apart from any other Bed Company is a combination of our craftsmanship, experience and personal service", explains John.
"We focus on building beds just as they did one hundred years ago but with a sharp eye on the customers need for a stylish piece of furniture".
An individual bed can have 1250 springs, each is wrapped in its own individual pocket comprising of cotton, wool and natural hair.
The hand sewing of the border to the spring unit guarantees unrivalled support for a healthy and beneficial nights sleep.
Part of the service includes customers offering their own designs and to view the bed being made. In fact any visit to the showroom will be accompanied by the sound of the beds being built next door. So along for a visit and see for yourself what makes this local company such a unique experience.

Ty Hafan children share the excitement of royal wedding

Posing with the 'happy couple'!

CHILDREN, families and staff at Ty Hafan got together the day before the actual royal w.edding to stage their own event, complete with bride and groom look-alikes, bridesmaids, bunting and a special party and disco afterwards.

Beth Morgan, who is in charge of the care team at Ty Hafan, said: "Everyone had a fabulous time and the children absolutely loved it.

"The staff worked really hard to make everything as authentic as possible – even down to the cake.

"Just as with all the parties going on up and down the country, it brought people together for this special day and everyone here at Ty Hafan sends their very best wishes to the happy couple"

RIGHT: Chef Julia McCarthy puts the finishing touches to the magnificent cake.

HALL AGM

RHOOSE Community Hall in Stewart Road, Rhoose, is holding its annual general meeting on May 12 at 7pm. All hall users and residents of the Rhoose area are invited to attend.

The hall committee is holding fundraising bingo afternoons on Saturday, May 14 at the hall.

Doors open at 2pm for a 2.30pm start.

Sun shines on season openers

THE bowls season opened with Cadoxton hosting a friendly match against Ely.

This followed an opening day on Saturday which was well supported, with seven mixed rinks of men and ladies taking part. Both days were blessed with good weather.

Further good support was received for the meeting with Ely. So, eight over-subscribed players, including a number of new members made up an extra rink.

The result, which was not the main concern, was a narrow success for the visitors, with two winning rinks each. After the game, hot pasties were served from the new kitchen extension by two of the ladies, Diane and Jen.

P Ellis, D Evans, I Robertson, G Brown 16 - 12; R Cole, B Knight, G Davies, H Craven 14 - 9; T Bishop, L Adams, J Sugden, L Cundliffe 10 - 18; G Powell, L Davies, M Curtis, K Chedgzoy 8 - 16.

Total: 48 - 55.

Cadoxton v Central (Friendly)

Central brought a five rink team, including a few ladies, to this early season game. Once again the weather was good and an enjoyable evening was had by all. The result was a resounding success for the home side.

There were good wins from the rinks skipped by Graham Brown and Les Cundliffe. Two further successes came from the Jim Davies and Howard Craven rinks.

In the other rink, Kelvin Chedgzoy almost threw away a 16-9 lead, but after losing the advantage on the penultimate end, managed a single to level on the last.

P Ellis, G Davies I Robertson, G Brown 25 - 8; K Tanner, R Doble, L Davies, H Craven 14 - 9; T Bishop, G Solomon, H Hellyar, L Cundliffe 24 - 8; G Powell, D Evans, D Brook, K Chedgzoy 18 - 18; L Tanner, M Mathews, R Cole, J Davies 16 - 9.

Total: 97 - 52.

On Saturday, the club side had their game called off by their opponents, due to the green not being up to standard.

The 'A' side hosted the first game in the SV League against Romilly, with a team sprinkled with members playing their first games. It resulted in a win on all rinks for the visitors.

Bill Vaughan skipped his rink to a 13 - 12 lead, against Brian Gough, but then stuck on the 'dreaded number' over the final six ends.

Derek Brook skipped against Vince McFarland, and trailed throughout. Roy Harding came up against Brian Cheal and took a 4-1 lead after four ends, but then went nine ends without scoring.

A 'four' and 'three' in the closing ends improved the difference, but not enough. Alan Carpenter's rink was matched with Alfie Woolcock and found it hard to keep in contention, scoring just five singles in 17 ends. A 'four' on the penultimate end improved the deficit.

Royal party events go with a swing

Last Friday afternoon, the West Street and West End of Llantwit Major enjoyed a very jolly royal wedding 'street party' in the paddock behind West Farm.

Residents with ages ranging from 90 to toddlers partook of a sumptuous home made tea and tucked in to a lovely 'wedding cake', followed by races and games.

Many thanks to the enthusiastic band of people who cut grass, cleaned barns, strung lights and bunting, and carted furniture, organised games and activities - and those who cleaned up afterwards! It was great to see so much community spirit.

Llantwit Town Council news in brief

GRANTS of £25 have been made by Llantwit Major Town Council to the Samaritans, and Cruse Bereavement Care,

THE council has decided against renewing its membership of One Voice Wales, which gives advice to local councils. Members felt that they received few benefits from membership.

THE town council has approved the payment of £178,000 to Morrison Construction for work carried out on the Boverton Road regeneration scheme.

THE council has waived the fee for hiring the old school to the census co-ordinator for Llantwit.

AN application from Llantwit Major Rugby Club for permission to use the recreation field as a campsite during next year's National Eisteddfod has been rejected by the council.

NO bookings are to be taken for the Heritage Centre at the Town Hall on Saturdays and Sundays over the summer, so that it can be opened on a regular basis to the public.

The Heritage Centre is run by the Llantwit Major Historical and Heritage Society.

THE Llantwit Major Town Council has been told that its objections to the reduction in the number of councillors from 15 to 14 are too late as the new arrangements came into place last June.

The council was consulted in May 2008 about the proposed review and the final recommendations were published in September 2009.

THE town council is to save more than £700 by switching to a different waste collection service.

The Vale Council, which has collected the council's waste in the past, wanted £2,607 to renew the contract for the year, but Biffa Waste Services quoted £1,924 and their price has been accepted.

APPLICANTS for grants to Llantwit Major Town Council could have to wait for 11 months before having a decision.

The council has decided to deal with grant aid at its January meeting. Any applications which come in after that will be deferred to the following January.

It is unclear what will happen to urgent requests for help.

THE hire fees for buildings hired by the local committee of the National Eisteddfod will be waived by Llantwit Major Town Council.

The local committee has to raise more than £40,000 and has said that if hire charges have to be met, some events being planned would be unviable. Coun Russell Downe moved that the charges be waived and this was agreed unanimously.

THE Llantwit Major Town Council has renewed its sponsorship of the Friends of the Glamorgan Heritage Coast. They pay £25 a year.

THE cost of relocating the zip wire at the older children's playground in Llantwit Major has been estimated at £2,000 plus £400 VAT.

Coun Sally Bagstaff reported that contractors had put the zip wire into its new location for tests and these had been carried out by a Vale environmental health officer. Coun Bagstaff said that she had received a verbal report that the new location should not cause any nuisance to householders but it was agreed to get the report in writing before making any decision.

A REQUEST from Transition Llantwit for permission to locate two sealed water butts to gather water run-off from the Llantonian Hall has been deferred by the town council until they have completed their year as tenants of land by the side of the hall.

The group has established a garden there and wish to grow vegetables but have a problem in getting water for the plants.

Coun Keith Geary said that the council would review their decision when the year was up in July. This was agreed.

THE Lorna Hughes Park in Llantwit is to be nominated for inclusion in a national Queen Elizabeth the Second Challenge. If it meets the criteria, the park will be protected against any development for posterity. Only sport and recreational purposes will be permitted although it will remain in the ownership of the town council who will carry out day to day maintenance.

A STONE mason has been brought in by the Vale Council to rebuild or renovate 85 stone stiles in the communities of Llantwit Major, Wick and St Donat's.

This is part of a scheme to preserve the stone stiles in the western Vale. Kissing gates are to be installed alongside some of the stiles where possible. Funding of the work has been provided by the Welsh Assembly Government.

THE Great Poppy Party being organised to celebrate the 90th birthday of the Royal British Legion will be held at a different time in Llantwit Major to the rest of the country.

The event will be held to coincide with the Victorian fair this summer when more people are in town and where the prospect of raising most money is possible.

A 1940s event will be staged that night at the rugby club.

Pop-up cards no longer a mystery!

LLANMAES WI

THE speaker at the April meeting was Jan Waskett, one of Llanmaes WI's most gifted members, and some of her hobbies are embroidering, sewing and card craft.

We were very lucky to spend the evening learning how to create a very special pop-up card which could be decorated for a celebration.

We were given two pieces of coloured paper, followed by a demonstration on how to fold this paper.

This was tricky, but Jan very patiently showed us individually how this was done).

We then glued the folded paper together, next we were given two pieces of card and two pieces of ribbon.

The ribbon we were to glue to the back of the front card (this would help close the card when it was finished).

Then we glued the pieces of card to the top and bottom of the pop up paper.

We were now given lots of pretty papers and stickers, saying 'Happy Birthday' and silver and gold flowers to personalise our cards, then gathered the ribbons together and made a pretty bow.

DINAS EARN WIN OVER BLUEBIRDS

Welsh League Division Two

Dinas Powys	3
Abertillery Bluebirds	2

WITH three straight wins behind them, Dinas went into this game with plenty of confidence and it showed in the first half with what was probably their best football of the season so far.

The home side started this game at a high tempo passing the ball around with pace and accuracy, but it was the visitors who had the first attempts on goal, with centre-half Adam Bishop heading straight at keeper Dave Burnett and Lee Bancroft firing over from long range.

Mike Hayward and Callum McKenzie were getting room and time in midfield and when Hayward got a return pass from Ricki Morgan, he crossed the ball into the area, but Oli Dalton's shot was just over the crossbar.

A minute later Dinas took the lead when a ball out of defence was headed down by Barrie Gunstone for Oli Dalton, who immediately returned the ball to Gunstone in space to hit a right foot shot from fifteen yards to score.

The Bluebirds hit back within a minute, hitting the crossbar and applying pressure on the Dinas defence, but it was the home side who looked the more dangerous.

When Ricki Morgan played an excellent ball from half-way for Mark Dunford, he quickly moved into the box and crossed; the ball deflected behind for an unproductive corner.

Barrie Gunstone was the focal point of many of the Dinas attacks and following another good move on the right he cut into the area to play the ball back for Mark Dunford.

His shot cannoned off the bar and back out and with a defender controlling the ball with his hand, the referee immediately pointed to the spot and Dunford made no mistake for the second goal.

Dinas continued to play with confidence in the remainder of the first-half and had chances to increase their lead when another Dunford shot was tipped over the bar by Ryan Wookey in the Bluebirds goal, and Dalton had a header saved by the keeper.

Dinas continued the second-half as they had played in the first, and after just two minutes a Mike Hayward free-kick was misjudged by the keeper, who allowed it to bounce over his head and onto the crossbar.

The ball fell to Morgan who immediately played it back to Dunford whose cross was deflected for a corner.

Then came the best move of the game started in the Dinas half involving Hayward and Gunstone, whose final ball gave Dunford the chance to score from twelve yards with a low shot to give Dinas what looked to be an unassailable three goal lead.

Seemingly down and out, the Bluebirds showed tremendous spirit and a few minutes later got a goal back when the Dinas defence allowed Michael Vagg too much room in the six yard box and he made no mistake to finish off a thirty-five yard free-kick.

The Bluebirds started to gain more possession, Jake Evans having a shot saved by the keeper, and when the Dinas defence allowed Lee Bancroft room, his shot was deflected for a corner.

Five minutes from the end Dinas hit the bar for the third time in the match.

Gunstone and Dunford had once again beaten the visitors' defence, and it was Gunstone who should have done better with a relatively simple chance.

A couple of minutes from time, the Bluebirds had the final say in the match when a good cross to the far post saw Lee Bancroft sneak in to score with a close range header.

ECO-WARRIORS SWOT UP ON RECYCLING TO STAGE AN ALL SAINTS FASHION SHOW

Year-6 pupils at All Saints Church in Wales Primary School are serious eco-warriors.

They have been studying materials during science lessons and decided to link this to an innovative recycling programme. They sought advice from the Marine Conservation Society and worked with Atlantic College to carry out a litter survey.

They discussed a number of issues, including the banning of plastic bags.

A discussion about how to encourage re-use of materials led to the idea of a recycling fashion show. All the pupils took part, choosing their own roles as designers, models, hosts and organisers.

They planned and carried out the whole event independently and invited the rest of the school to attend. The designs were amazing, with every outfit produced from recycled materials and the models were definitely future cat-walk potential.

Their teacher, Sue Thomas, was "very proud" of the way the whole class worked as a team to stage this fantastic event.

Welsh League Division Two

Dinas Powys	0
Treharris Athletic Western	3

THIS was the eighth game Dinas had had to play in April and it certainly was a game too far.

Coupled with the fact that they were also having to play forward Oli Dalton in goal due to the unavailability of three keepers, the game turned into something of a disaster.

The first-half was something of a non-event with neither side having a shot on target, and while Dinas weren't playing with any of the control and pace shown in recent games, they certainly didn't look like conceding a goal either.

In the second-half Dinas seemed to have upped the pace a bit but so did Treharris, and while the visitors were able to maintain it, the home side just couldn't seem to get going.

It may have been different if Ricki Morgan could have done better with a close range header from a corner early in the half, but on most occasions the ball into the Treharris area was just too close to keeper Robert Jones who caught everything.

Fourteen minutes into the half Treharris captain, Jamie Rees, played an excellent ball across the face of the Dinas goal but the Dinas defence were able to clear the ball.

The visitors got the opener when a long throw was touched on, the stand-in keeper seemingly had the ball but it squirted from his grasp and Ian Batten stabbed the ball in from close range.

Tall substitute Batten certainly had a big influence on the game and scored his, and Treharris', second a few minutes later.

He got his head to a good cross and although Dalton somehow managed to push the ball onto an upright, he couldn't stop the ball ending up in the net.

The third goal summed up Dinas' day.

A mis-hit clearance bounced over the Dinas defence and with the keeper unsure whether to catch the 'back-pass', he allowed the ball to bounce high and into the net.

A day to forget for Dinas but they have to pick themselves up as the games continue to come thick and fast.

Squad: Oli Dalton, Rhodri Foote, Ben Dimond, Mike Haywood, Dave Penikett, Jon Carpentier, Ricki Morgan, Callum McKenzie, Mark Dunford, Barrie Gunstone, Stephen Provis. Subs: Danny Street, Amanj Hassan, Joe Briscombe.

Next game, Welsh League Division Two: Saturday, May 7, Bettws v Dinas Powys, kick off, 2.30pm.

READ ALL ABOUT DINAS' ENCOUNTER WITH ABERTILLERY BLUEBIRDS ON PAGE 32.

Pumas on course for the double!

BARRY Pumas played their penultimate league game on Sunday where only a win would do if they were to stay in the hunt to become Lazarou Sunday League Division Three champions.

The opponents were Fitz Lifts FC, and Pumas started well.

They got their first goal when a cross found Ben Weekley, who netted from close range.

Pumas seemed to relax too much and a few minutes later Fitz Lifts drew level.

In the second half Pumas always looked the most likely to get the winner, and this came after Scott Christopherato was brought down in the box to give Pumas a penalty.

The previous Sunday, Pumas were involved in the Division Three cup final against Arriva Trains FC.

Pumas got the first goal when they were awarded a penalty which Lamb scored to keep up his 100 per cent record. Pumas were again 1–1 at half time, when Arriva equalised from close range after a goalmouth scramble.

Pumas got the winner in the second half when Callum Taylor guided the ball into the net from an Anthony Partridge cross.

So Pumas won the cup, and if they beat Legal and General this week, the league title will be theirs too.

Otto and Jack win at golf championships

THE south Wales boys' golf association recently held its annual open stroke and match play championships at Wenvoe Castle Golf Club on April 26–28.

Sixty-six players qualified from a total entry running into three figures, with handicaps ranging from scratch to no higher than five.

Qualifiers were from all parts of Wales, and there were a number of entries from England (some of whom, the watching national selectors noted, had Welsh credentials!)

The 36 hole stroke play championship was won by Otto Mand from Dewstow Golf Club.

The top 16 from the stroke play then played for the match play championship, and this was won by Jack Bush of Morlais Castle, Merthyr Tydfil.

The overall standard of play was exemplary on a course in beautiful condition but which was set up to challenge the players' shot making; on the evidence of the three days of play, the future of Welsh golf looks assured!

The organisers wish to thank Wenvoe Castle Golf Club for its superb hosting of the event.

BARRY ATHLETIC BOWLERS BEAT PENCOED IN CUP

BARRY Athletic Bowls Club cleared their first Carruthers Shield qualifying hurdle with an emphatic win at Pencoed on Saturday.

In a one-way contest, the Athletic ran out winners by an impressive 55 shots with a 111-56 scoreline.

The big win was achieved thanks to two runaway victories for skips Glyn Thomas and Chris Blake.

Glyn's rink, featuring John Donovan, Paul Webley and Kristian Harris, registered a 36-11 success that included a six, five and three fours.

Club captain Robert Horgan had a 24-18 win, while Dean Rees' squad tied 18-18 after trailing 2-12 early in the game, to complete a fine comeback.

On Saturday, the second team entertain Barry Plastics at Barry Island in another friendly. The first team resume Carruthers Shield action at Cadoxton on May 14.

Scores: Barry Athletic – J Donovan, P Webley, K Harris, G Thomas 36-11; D Snelling, R Cowling, G Whittaker, C Blake 33-9; S McKernan, D Jones, C Wright, R Horgan 24-18; J Beanland, DK Williams, B Parrish, D Rees 18-18.

South Wales Senior League Division One

CWMBACH WELFARE 4
CADOXTON BARRY FC 1

Results cost Cadoxton Barry dear

TERRITORIALLY Cadoxton Barry (CB) matched their hosts for much of the game, but two defensive lapses in concentration and an unfortunate own goal proved to be their undoing, and at the end of the day there can be no complaints.

The lofty pitch had steep slopes running away on two sides - often delaying the return of the ball when it went out of play.

The first half was end to end with both sides looking more likely to concede from errors than quality play. A delay in shooting when in control of the ball saw CB dispossessed for Cwm to attack down the left.

In came a fierce cross that saw Walsh stretching to intercept - an interception that unfortunately redirected the cross high and beyond the reach of 'keeper Norris to drop into the net.

Before that, however, Norris had pulled off a fabulous diving save to deny Cwmbach's Hollidge the conversion of a penalty.

Early in the second half, Murphy headed on a long ball to offer Mills a glorious opportunity, but the ball bounced so high on the hard pitch that he was unable to get his head to it.

Indeed, the pitch went on to give CB a bit of a let off when, with Norris out of position, an on-target shot bounced over the CB bar, when normally it would have entered the net!

It wasn't long before Mills returned the compliment when he set Murphy up for the header that brought the scores back level.

There followed a spell when CB began to look the likely winners as a string of chances came but went begging. Then Cwm launched an attack down the right that, at first, didn't seen to offer any threat, that is until a trio of CB defenders backed off as Cwm lightly danced past statues before sending in a shot from close range which Norris only managed to parry to Ross Williams, who made no mistake with the return.

The same player then scored the best goal of the game with a glancing header from a free kick taken from out to the right. In between, CB chances came and went and there were a couple of good shouts for penalties which weren't awarded.

At this point CB weren't playing badly. But then, for the second time in the match, CB defenders appeared to turn into pillars of salt before they looked back to see a ball in their net for the fourth time.

'AM I BLUE' EARNS FFOS LAS WIN

Am I Blue,* trained at Kenfig Hill by Mrs Delyth Thomas, landed the Design Office Mares Handicap Hurdle at Ffos Las on Bank Holiday Easter Monday.

Partnered by 5lb-claiming jockey Peter Carberry, five-year-old Am I Blue finished six lengths ahead of Giovanna and was returned a 7-2 chance.

It will be remembered that Am I Blue, a former inmate of Tim Vaughan's Aberthin yard, made the headlines in the national and local press last September when winning at Hereford after being backed from 25-1 to 5-1. As one race reporter put it: "There was outrage in some quarters and amusement in others."

The national press made much of the fact that prior to Am I Blue's astounding win, Mrs Thomas had trained just two winners, but she is no stranger to the winner's enclosure, having saddled more than 100 winners in the sport of Arabian horse racing.

For the record, Am I Blue's Hereford win will be one of the stories in my forthcoming book, The History of Horse Racing in Wales - The Great Scandals & Gambles of the Welsh Turf, to be published by St David's Press.

Meanwhile, Aberthin's Tim Vaughan also made it a bank holiday to remember. He was successful with Quedillac (Sam Thomas) at Ffos Las and also sent out Free To Air (J W Farrelly) to win at Plumpton and Makhzoon (Aidan Coleman) to score at Fakenham.

KENFIG HILL'S Rhys Flint, riding his father John's King Of Dubai, landed the handicap hurdle at Uttoxeter on Saturday.

The six-year-old bay gelding, owned by Mr Brian Jones, made all the running to win by five lengths from Points Of View and was well backed at odds of 9–2.

At the Berkeley Point-To-Point Steeplechases at Woodford, Mrs Jodie Pearn's seven-year-old bay gelding Floridahall, who is qualified with the Glamorgan Hunt, won the Intermediate race at odds of 6–1.

Floridahall was ridden by Ogmore's Nick Williams and is trained by Pentyrch's Robert Porter.

Tom David, riding Steve Whistance's Overlut, won the mixed open race.

'Relegation a certainty'

THIS result almost certainly sends Cadoxton Barry (CB) back to the Second Division. The consolation is that, with their resources, they have the capacity to win again next season - the gap between the divisions is that great.

Penydarren 4 - 2 Cadoxton Barry FC

CB have probably shipped at least a third of all goals in the first 10 minutes of the second half this season and again, although the game was scoreless at half time, by the ninth minute of the second half CB were two down.

By the halfway mark it was three, before two great team passing movements were finished off with powerful headers from Mills to give CB hope at 3 – 2. Penydarren looked worried at this stage, but a fourth for them just after Mills' second ensured that a CB comeback wasn't going to happen.

SPORTS ARE TOO STRONG FOR THE VETS

Sully Sports B	6
Park Vets	3

SULLY entertained Park Vets in their last Division Two game.

Within minutes Sully were one up, a shot from Graham was half-saved by the Park keeper, and Jaime Lamb converted from close range.

With the pace of young Kieron Jones, playing alongside Jaime up front, Sully were causing Park Vets problems and soon increased their lead.

The pace of Kieron saw him through one on one and he coolly slotted the ball into the bottom corner.

Sully's defence of Joe McCann, Kevin Ball, Nigel Underdown and Adam Watts were dealing comfortably with the long ball and keeper Ben Gillespie looked in full control between the sticks.

Towards the end of the half, tempers flared and a Park midfielder saw red.

With Sully in control, they increased their lead when a through ball was handled.

The referee let play go on, and a cross from James Greenslade found Liam Hobbs at the back post, who volleyed in from close range.

With the half drawing to a close, the ten men of Park pulled a goal back when a long free kick eluded everyone and went straight in.

Sully made it 4–1 early into the second half when Spencer Lamb was laid off by younger brother Wesley Lamb, who smashed into the top corner.

More chances fell for Sully to increase their lead further, chances they almost came to rue as a crazy five minutes saw Park back in the game.

First an overhead lob couldn't be kept out by Ben Gillespie, followed by a long range effort shortly after that made the score 4–3.

Jaime Lamb slotted the ball in the far corner and reduced panic through the Sully camp, and they made the game completely safe a few minutes later when a short corner saw Jaime Lamb bend a shot, completing his hat-trick, making the final score 6–3 to Sully.

Stags suffer double setback with two 'convincing' defeats

THE Stags of Barry Athletic CC suffered a double setback at the hands of Vale CC and St Fagans with convincing defeats in both matches.

First, the Stags suffered a seven-wicket defeat to newly-promoted Vale CC last Saturday; a match in which the Stags suffered a massive reality check a week prior to the first league game of the new season.

The conditions favoured the batsmen and that assumption was backed up by skipper Nathan Baker, who won the toss and batted first.

Any thought of a positive start from the home side was dashed in the first over. Batsmen Damon Leake (0) and Craig Brock (4), were both back in the shed after being outpaced by the bowling attack. Nathan Baker (8) soon followed after being unluckily caught in the covers.

The Stags were fading fast and needed a partnership urgently, if they were to post a defendable score. Luckily, Ian Gadd (46) and Ashley Baker (48) were on hand to lead the home side out of trouble.

Knocks from Billy Usswald (35) and Simon Phillips (19) proved useful for the Stags but with wickets falling quickly, it wasn't long before the Stags were dismissed for just 190.

After the tea session, the Stags looked impressive in the field. The visitors were struggling to cope with the partnership of Peter Hellyar and Jake Griffett. However, that all-important wicket was still to come and the Stags were losing momentum.

Vale were beginning to find boundaries at regular intervals and the Stags were under increasing pressure as the match wore on. Wickets from Jake Griffett, Steve Jones and Billy Usswald proved to be no more than a stumbling block for the visitors as they raced to a seven-wicket win with 12 overs to spare

Next, the Stags (captained by Andy Ellis) stumbled to a disappointing 77-run defeat by St Fagans, who stunned the crowd by giving Glan Williams and Neil Holmes a starting place against their home club. The sun was beaming down on the ever-popular Barry Oval and the chants to bat first were answered as St Fagans won the toss and chose to bat.

The Stags anticipated a long day's fielding and that proved to be the case, as the home side struggled to contain the visitors. Boundaries were hit all over the place and the game started to get away from the Stags.

Fielding errors were evident all over the field and made the game easier for the visitors, as they raced to 295-5 by the close of the first innings.

In the second innings, the Stags didn't get off to a good start by losing Jonathan Phillips (10), Ashley Baker (8) and Callum Twomey (8) early on in the innings. No-one was able to form a partnership with the in-form Ian Gadd, and the odds of a surprise win were getting slimmer and slimmer.

Gadd kept fighting with some excellent stroke play and produced some fine cricket for the spectators, and the icing was on the cake when he passed the century mark.

The 'Tractor-Boy' referred back to his attacking style of batting for the closing overs and looked impressive until he was stumped for 130 runs in as many deliveries.

The Stags had nothing more to give in terms of excitement, and were bowled out for 218.

The Stags open their 2011 league campaign next weekend and will hope to get a positive start as they hope to challenge for promotion. All of the club's fixtures can be viewed on their official website, www.barryathleticcricketclub.webs.com.

Minsgill Mans achieves point-to-point history!

MINSGILL MANS* achieved a piece of point to point history at Cold Harbour near Leominster on Sunday by winning the Welsh Borders Area Classic Race for The Crudwell Cup for the the third time.

Having won the race in 2007 and 2008, the 13-year-old gelding was an even money favourite.

Quality opposition from Burntoakboy, a former Cheltenham Festival winner, and the the useful Tastes Like More suggested a competitive race and so it proved.

To attempt to make all over four miles is generally a risky tactic, but in the hands of James Tudor the old warrior responded magnificently by first seeing off the challenge of Burntoakboy, and then keeping Tastes Like More at bay over the last two fences to get home by a neck.

Minsgill Mans is owned by Cowbridge's Jeffrey and Andrea Bird, along with Andrea's brother Jonathan Tudor and his wife Judith.

Jonathan, who trains the family horse at Merthyr Mawr, commented: "He's a real hero to us and it's remarkable that he still loves his racing at 13. He's now won 13 point to point races including nine Opens out of 25 runs. It was special to complete the family circle having our cousin James on board."

Barry under-8s miss out in Abergavenny

BARRY RFC under-8s travelled the 100-mile round trip to play in the Abergavenny rugby festival on bank holiday Sunday.

Pontyclun 5 v 3 Barry RFC

IN the first game, Barry started slowly, struggling to get tags and badly passing.

It was a good attacking game from Barry with tries from I Esscot, E Galsworthy and Z Fifield. Defence let them down but in terms of the table it was early days.

Barry 9 v 3 Newbridge

AFTER a good talking to concerning defence, Barry put in a great team display.

They managed to turn the ball over a number of times and some great moves were well finished off.

Tries from C Saunders (3), Z Fifield (3), E Galsworthy (2) and J Reid proved too much for Newbridge. Fifield's second try was a gem, with a fast pick and his pace took him over. D Wall and J Couch showed plenty of unselfish play, opening the Newbridge side up.

Barry 5 v 3 Penceod

GOING into this match, Barry had a very short break of 10 minutes.

E Galsworthy (2) scored two great tries but halfway through the game Barry were trailing 3-2.

Some changes saw substitute C Saunders grab a hat trick in five minutes to give the Vale side victory number two.

D Wall, J Couch, J Roberts C Denbury, T Pugh and R Rendell, to name just a few, worked tirelessly in this game to set up the tries for Galsworthy and Saunders.

Barry 4 v 4 Croesyceiliog

GOING into the final match, a victory or draw would secure second place, but a defeat would see Croesyceiliog take second place.

Croesyceiliog started the match on fire, going two tries up early on. Elen, the only girl in the Barry team, produced a great display of running and pulled a try back straight away.

C Saunders then grabbed two quick tries to put the Barry team 3-2 up. In a very entertaining match, Croesyceiliog drew level before J Roberts converted a great try. Then very late on, Croesyceiliog drew level again. A draw was a fair result, as both teams went for it tooth and nail.

Barry under-8s showed great awareness and team work throughout the festival. The attacking rugby was second to none and the defence improved vastly as the games went on. All players put in a shift to be proud of.

Team: R Rendell, T Pugh, C Denbury, I Esscot, C Saunders, J Couch, J Roberts, E Galsworthy, Z Fifield, D Wall, J Jones, Elen and J Reid.

Missing from the team was D Parry Griffiths, who suffered a broken collar bone. All players and coaches wish him well and a speedy return, yet he was still able to be there and support the team. Well done!

Dyffryn Croquet Club celebrates its silver jubilee

DYFFRYN Croquet Club will celebrate its 25th anniversary this summer by launching a recruitment drive.

The club plays at Dyffryn Gardens in St Nicholas, and started in July 1986 when 49 members signed up following a demonstration game.

Since then the club has gone from strength to strength, and has won several league titles in the South West Federation.

Club chairman Sue Mackay, a founder member, told The GEM:

"Dyffryn Gardens is a wonderful setting in which to play croquet.

"The game is more complicated than people think. It requires tactical ability and skill rather than strength, but is very different from the game people may have played in their gardens.

"A handicap system means it can be played on equal terms by men and women of all ages."

The club has players from all over south Wales, but is now in need of new blood to ensure it survives well into its second quarter century.

To this end the club will be running two six week courses for beginners, one on a Wednesday evening at 6.30pm (starting on May 11) and one on Thursday afternoons at 1.30pm (starting on May12).

The cost will be £20, but this will be deducted from the cost of club membership for those that decide to join after the course. All equipment is provided, but flat soled shoes must be worn.

All those interested in joining one of these courses should contact either Paul Pristavec (01443 676239) or Sue Mackay (01446 710237).

Further details on the club can be seen at www.dyffryncroquet.org.uk

Windsor firsts launch new season in style

Windsor LTC men's first team launched their season with an impressive win over Newport's Stow Park.

Chasing their third successive promotion the Windsor team, captained by Daniel Hughes, came away with a win by the narrowest of margins, snatching the match by 5-4.

A potent mix of experience and youthful exuberance was the key to victory for the Penarth outfit. The established duo of Jason Richards and Tim Hartland anchored the performance, taking all three rubbers, while Dan Hughes and Dan Ellis, and Tom Cole and Dan James won one rubber each to clinch the victory.

Windsor now go on to face local rivals Penarth Rectory Road in the competitive Premier Two Division.

Windsor men's captain Ian Hughes commented: "This is the best possible start to the season, and will give the team confidence for the tough local derby against Rectory a week Friday. Rectory have also won two successive promotions and the team is eagerly looking forward to the match."

Cowbridge brother and sister's ice hockey success

YOUNG Jake Roberts of Cowbridge Comprehensive School put on an impressive performance at the British national junior ice hockey championships in Hull last weekend.

Jake's team – South West conference under-13s – won the gold medal after a very tough match against Scotland. The match ended in a two-all draw after full time and overtime, and was won 3-2 in a penalty shoot-out.

Jake plays as a forward for Swindon Wildcats under-12s and under-14s ice hockey teams.

Congratulations also to Jake's sister, Bryony Roberts, also of Cowbridge Comprehensive, who helped south of England under-16s girls ice hockey team to a convincing 3-1 victory over North of England in Sheffield on Easter Monday.

Bryony was selected to attend the under-16s girls School of Excellence in Hull in May, at which the England under-16s girls ice hockey team will be selected. Bryony plays as a forward for Swindon under-14s.

Bryony and Jake will travel to Leuven, Belgium with the Swindon under-14s team on May 13 for an international tournament. They will face teams from Belgium, France, Germany, Holland and the Czech Republic, before emigrating to Ontario, Canada with their family on May 21.

Jake Roberts.

Cougars have too much bite

Keighley Cougars	46
South Wales Scorpions	26

AN early second half burst of tries sealed the win for Keighley Cougars to cement their second place position in the table.

The game was close to being a fairly even affair and the scoreline doesn't tell the full story of how hard the Welsh side worked in one of their longest toughest trips of the season.

Against the run of play, Keighley scored from their first attack, but Scorpions levelled when Aled James intercepted a pass and ran 60 metres to ground; Lewis Reece easily converted.

They took the lead from their next set when Andrew Gay broke through the defence to score under the sticks and Reece goaled again.

Duffy followed him over from kick-off with Lawton converting both.

Scorpions crossed the line on the half-time hooter to leave Keighley 24–16 up at the interval.

However, the Cougars turned the screw in the second half and came away with the win.

Cottrell Park ladies' Easter treasure hunt

COTTRELL Park ladies had a busy Easter week, starting with a treasure hunt in Cowbridge on Tuesday.

Ten teams of three set out to solve a list of clues and to find the objects asked for, returning with a swan, three feathers, a hummingbird and an object from out of space. Kay Bradbury, Mij Evans and Chris Impey were the worthy winners.

On Thursday, a 12-hole Easter Stableford was played in the sunshine, with some very good scores. The winner was Sandra Collin with 26 points, and second was Angela Padfield with 25 points. In third was Mary Davies with 24.

Following lunch Jenny McGlyne, the ladies' captain presented the winter league trophy to Helen Evans. The winter eclectic was won by Margaret Thomas.

She also gave the winners of the Easter competition nicely decorated baskets of Easter eggs, which were much appreciated.

The mixed Easter Monday Texas Scramble was enjoyed by all, and the winners were Jenny McGlyne, John McGlyne, Vicki Long and Robert McAndrew with a gross score of 69, net 62.6.

Six-a-side leisure leagues

FC FALCONS picked up their first win of the campaign in the Cardiff six-a-side Sunday league – and what a win it was!

The ever-dangerous Luke Bowen was the star of the show as they trounced Jubulani 16–0.

It was a similar story elsewhere for Deportivo ATB, who got off the mark by beating The Nutty Boys 4–1 as Ashley Vickery starred.

Little Forces stated their intentions in the Bridgend six-a-side Wednesday league as Jeremy Griffiths proved the driving force behind a commanding 7–1 win over The Invincibles.

Beer Attack have moved to within a point of the summit as Glyn Davis starred in a 6–2 defeat of Valley Commandos, taking full advantage of El Wapos 1–1 stalemate with FC Ogmore.

Anyone who wants to join the leagues in South Wales can ring 0845 230 2340 or visit www.leisureleagues.net

NEWS FROM GLAMORGAN FARMERS GOLF

Successful return for president Geraint

THE president of the Glamorgan Farmers' Golf Society, Mr Geraint Davies, made a welcome return to the town of his birthplace when competing in the society's monthly competition last Thursday at Cradoc Golf Club, Brecon.

Scoring 35 stableford points, Geraint had a two-point winning margin over his nearest rivals to collect the society's own version of the Walker Cup from the day's generous sponsor Mr Tosh Taylor.

There to witness Geraint's fine achievement was his 88-year-old father, Mr Ioerwith Davies, who still resides in this beautiful part of Wales.

Aubrey Bowen with 33 points (16 points on back nine) finished second.

Coun Raymond Thomas, also with 33 points (14 on the back nine) finished third, and veteran Robert Thomas also with 33 points (13 on the back nine) finished fourth.

The society were particularly pleased to welcome five 'next generation' members to the day's event with Jamie and Harry Gibson, Rhydian Harris, Daniel Jarvis and David Taylor all enjoying the experience of playing on this beautiful parkland course with its superb views of the surrounding Brecon Beacons.

Also present for the evening's function was Owain Rees, grandson of Islwyn Rees who was successful at this venue in July 2000.

Sponsor's son David Taylor, with 43 points, won the guest section and also the 'James Hog Roast' sponsored longest drive competition.

Rhydian Harris, still smiling from his first-ever hole in one the previous weekend at Cottrell Park and playing his third round in two days, took second place with 37 points, and Brecon-based David Jones finished third with 36 points.

Congratulations also to Rhydian's brother Dewi, who recently holed out with his second shot on the difficult par four fifth hole on the Mackintosh course at Cottrell Park to secure his first-ever eagle.

David Jones, Aubrey Bowen,Geraint Davies, Tosh Taylor, Tony McCarthy and David Taylor.

Royal surprise!

Deputy secretary David Harris, still in recovery mode having missed out on an invitation to the wedding of the decade, sprang a surprise on the winners of the nearest the pin on the par three holes when producing specially purchased prizes to mark the following day's big event in Westminster Abbey.

Tosh Taylor, Bryan Owen, Jim Hayes and Neil Mclean all returned home with commemorative gifts to remind themselves and their families of William and Catherine's special day.

Ray Simkiss, undoubtedly one of the most consistent and generous contributors to the society's lost ball sweep, collected the 'Premier Turf' sponsored bottle of whisky when correctly guessing 34 balls would remain in the next county, which also raised £92 for the Samaritans' Purse Charity.

The society's next meeting will be the annual medal round competition for the Shrieval Trophy, kindly sponsored by Mr Islwyn Rees. This will be at Fairwood Park Golf Club on Thursday, May 26.

Stand-in Tudor is a four-time winner

ON AND OFF THE TURF with Brian Lee

JAMES TUDOR, assistant trainer to Llancarfan's Evan Williams, was in good form at the South Pembrokeshire Hunt Point-To-Point Steeplechases on Easter Monday.

Standing in for the injured John Mathias, Tudor rode a four-timer winning on David Evans's Udeman (Young Horse Maiden), Dai Rees's Two Shook Men (Open Maiden), David Llewellyn's Rosies Peacock (Men's Open) and Dai Rees's Saint Peray (Intermediate).

Udeman, a seven-year-old chestnut gelding, was backed from 5-1 to 5-4 favourite, and won by a distance from Cloran Jack ridden by Mathew Barber. Tudor's next winner, the oddly named Two Shook Men, a seven-year-old bay gelding, won by 10 lengths from John Clayton, also ridden by Mathew Barber.

Tudor's third winner of the day, Rosies Peacock, an eight-year-old bay gelding owned trained and bred by David Llewellyn, brother of Grand National winning jockey Carl Llewellyn, came home 12 lengths ahead of Pathian Prince, ridden by Paul Tolman.

Saint Peray, a five-year-old bay gelding, won by 30 lengths from the pacemaking Rash Oak partnered by Paul Tolman.

However, Tudor had began the day with a fall from the odds-on favourite Lydstep Hills, who had led at the penultimate fence in the members' race.

Sir Monty, a nine-year-old chestnut gelding, ridden by young Bradley Gibbs, was only just behind at the time and jumping a lot better than the favourite, and eventually went on to win by a distance from Stafford Prince, whose rider Paul Goldsworthy was having his first ride in a point-to-point since 1976!

David Brace, of the Dunraven Stud, Llanmihangel Farm, Pyle, saw his Doctor Tom, land the Restricted under Tom David. The eight-year-old bay gelding by Dr Massini won by 20 lengths from the favourite Banagher, ridden by James Tudor.

Lucy Pearce-Rowsell rode her first winner in a couple of years when landing the Ladies' Open race on the Charlotte Owen-trained Baren De Roc, a former inmate of Tim Vaughan's Aberthin's yard.

Baren De Rock, an eight-year-old bay gelding, won by five lengths from Kisha King, with the odds-on favourite Fruitfull Citizen a long way back in third place.

Starting prices – Sir Monty 2-1; Udeman 5-4 fav; Baren De Roc 5-1; Two Shook Men 5-2; Rosies Peacock evens fav; Saint Peray 1-2 fav; Doctor Tom 3-1; Penway Tap Dancer 1-3 fav; Springs 1-3 fav.

● On Sunday (May 8) the Tredegar Farmers are holding their annual Point-To-Point Steeplechases at Lower Machen, four miles west of Newport. First race 2pm.

Barry RFC ends the season with a deserved win

BARRY completed their fixtures for the season last Saturday when Abercwmboi were the visitors.

BARRY RFC	38
ABERCWMBOI	18

The visitors had won at home earlier in the campaign so this was an opportunity to level things up.

Barry started the first half playing down the slope but into the teeth of the wind.

Any penalty awarded within the opposition half was going to be something of a formality.

Unfortunately Barry were the first to transgress and Abercwmboi went into a three point lead very soon after the start.

Barry hit back after ten minutes of play with a well taken try by Ryan, which came as a result of straightening the back line, drawing in defenders and releasing the men outside into space.

This is something Barry have consistently failed to do this season; it is to be hoped that they can carry this ability to the next.

One trait that still needs attention is talking back to the referee and losing ground as a result; more discipline is required of the players in this area.

However, the Barry side were beginning to make inroads into the visiting defence, with sterling work by Bowditch, O'Sullivan and Morgan.

They provided the platform for a well-worked try by Adams with the extras added by Lee.

The good work was countered by Abercwmboi when they landed a further penalty, awarded for a high tackle.

The first half ended with the visitors unable to convert two more penalty attempts, leaving the interval score at 10 - 6 in favour of the home fifteen.

Barry were given a quick shock at the restart when the visitors set up a good attacking platform and crossed for a deserved try which, unfortunately, remained unconverted.

The home side now began to show their mettle with some very good interplay between forwards and backs.

Barry suffered for indiscipline after ten minutes when J. Evans was banished to the touchline for a high tackle.

The loss of a man seemed to galvanize Barry, however – Dix adding a further try to his tally after a shrewd kick ahead, gathering under the noses of the defenders.

There followed a further yellow card for Barry: (They must be aware that better teams will punish such indiscipline next season).

After the first offender had returned to make their complement up to fourteen, the home side again managed to work Dix clear for his third try of the afternoon.

With a twenty point buffer Barry continued to lay siege to their opponents' line and the bulldozing A. Evans crossed for a well-earned try, which was converted by Lee.

The game wandered to a conclusion with Abercwmboi having the consolation of a last-minute converted try.

Barry will finish the season in a respectable mid-table position with victories over all bar one of the sides above them.

A barren period in mid-term left them with too much to do to challenge for any of the top spots.

On balance a satisfactory outcome for which coaches and players deserve congratulations.

Team: Bowditch, O'Sullivan, Morgan, Williams, King, Gill, J Evans, Lee, O'Sullivan, Dix, A Evans, Ryan, Williams, Adams.

Hughes' 87 helps the Wanderers to victory

BARRY WANDERERS V LLANTWIT MAJOR CAVALIERS

IN a rearranged game, the Wanderers welcomed Llantwit Major Cavaliers to a muggy Hayes Point.

Home captain Jamie Keir won the toss and elected to bat on a hard but green wicket.

Openers Paul Sawyer (3) and Hissan Ur Rehman (4) departed early on to contentious decisions, but Pete Webb and Aled Hughes quickly steadied the ship before Hughes went berserk and unleashed a series of audacious shots to score 50 inside just seven overs.

Webb concentrated on supporting Hughes and getting him on strike, a sensible tactic because, although the track was difficult to bat on, Hughes managed to make it look horrendously easy.

Their third wicket partnership was worth 105 and was scored in just 11 overs.

However, the Wanderers suffered a middle-order collapse which saw Webb depart for 25, given out LBW from the bowling of Ashton.

Mark Ellis (2) and Jamie Keir (0) soon quickly followed and once the flamboyant Hughes holed out to long-on for an incredible 87, the Wanderers were stuttering on 141–6.

Jimmy Hassett and Dan Bowles managed to recover the momentum and their partnership was worth 43.

It meant that the Wanderers could push to 200 – and beyond – and after Hassett was out for 20, some lower order 'biffing' from Gareth Hughes (13) was combined with some more conventional yet aggressive stroke play from Bowles (36).

The Wanderers scored 221–9 on a difficult batting wicket and the home side were confident it was a total they could defend.

In their reply, the Cavaliers went off aggressively, something they had to do if they were going to challenge the Wanderers' total.

The heavy hitting was soon reined in though by Bowles and Evan Davies, and soon the Cavaliers were struggling to keep up with the required run rate.

Davies got the first breakthrough when he bowled Huxtable for 11.

That was the only wicket for a while and although Bowles, Davies, Gareth Hughes and debutant Danny Seaward, bowled with aggression and tenacity, they could not get that prized second wicket.

The plus was that the Cavaliers were finding runs hard to come by and it was apparent they would have to take some risks sooner or later.

Coldwell and Pickford were digging in for the Cavs, but Seaward eventually got the wicket he deserved when he had Pickford caught by Hassett for 17.

Runs and wickets were at a premium and although the run rate was sneaking up towards 10 an over, the Cavaliers would not hit out, although to be fair the bowling did not offer much to enable the batsmen to get the boundaries they needed.

The batsmen eventually tried to force the issue against the slow bowling of Ellis and Ur Rehman and although runs started to flow more regularly, wickets started to fall.

Dowling edged to Keir off Ur Rehman for 25 before Keir took two stumpings, firstly off Ur Rehman to account for Coldwell who eventually departed for 51, and then off Ellis to dismiss ex-Wanderer Bunce for 1.

With wickets tumbling, the run rate was always too much and once Ellis helped Hissan claim his third wicket with a good catch to dismiss Vincent for a bright and breezy 35, the game was up for Llantwit.

They finished on 166–5, falling 56 runs short of their target. It was a good victory for the Wanderers and it meant the unbeaten run continued with the boys from Hayes Point looking in great shape for the start of the league season for the next weekend.

Wanderers stroll home after early setbacks

STAND-IN skipper Steve Norman was lucky enough to win the toss and elected for BWCC to field.

The wicket was very dry and abrasive, but the bounce was mainly low with the occasional ball rearing up off a length, not an easy wicket to score off. Scoring was not helped by an outfield which slowed the ball up considerably.

Both bowlers were replaced by (old and wily) Mike Ashton and (young, learning very quickly) Ieuan Wade.

The bowling was generally very accurate and economical backed up by very tidy wicketkeeping from Reno Defeo who took a catch and a stumping. The fielding was put into perspective by very good run outs from K P and Toby Stirk.

Miskin Manor got 92 for 8 wickets.

After a fine tea, BWCC commenced their reply with Dean Thomas and Peter Coleman, who both found scoring difficult with tight bowling from Miskin Manor.

Unfortunately, Dean was bowled by a good 'un for 4 and he was replaced by a returning player in Paul George.

Paul also found scoring difficult due to accurate bowling and a touch of rustiness and was out caught for 2.

Coleman was then joined at the wicket by Norman who scratched around for a while but with some quick singles both batsmen started to find some rhythm and built a partnership of 81 which was good enough to win the game by 8 wickets

Centurions beaten in the season opener

REIGNING SWALEC Premier cricket league champions Sully Centurions came down to earth with a bump on the first day of the new league season when newly-promoted Bridgend won at Burnham Avenue, thanks mainly to a five-wicket haul for Alex Jones.

Jones, who opened the bowling with former Centurion Andrew Davies, did the damage at the top of the order by removing Ryan Sylvester, Lloyd Smith, Mike O'Shea, Gareth Sullivan and Daniel Rowe to leave the home side reeling at 35 for 5.

After Jamie Sylvester helped steady the ship with a 34-run partnership with Roger Clitheroe, Sully began to lose wickets with regularity again and when David Eskins (7) was caught by Mike Powell off the bowling of Nick Davies, the Centurions' innings had come to an end for just 121, with 9 overs still remaining.

After tea, another former Sully player, David Goodway, opened the Bridgend innings with Grant Humphries – and when Humphries was caught by Sullivan off the bowling of Ryan Sylvester with the score on 19, it looked as though Sully might make a fight of it.

Goodway had hit 14 when he was bowled by Daniel Rowe to leave the visitors on 38 for 2 and then, when Baker was dismissed with the score on 53, things were looking interesting.

This brought together Powell and Bradley Wadlan, who weathered the storm with some sensible batting to bring Bridgend close to the finish line.

Wadlan was caught by O'Shea off Liam Wools for 32, with the score on 110 and Mike Powell completed his half century, accompanied by man of the match Jones, to see the visitors home in the 38th over.

This result has served as a warning that champions are there to be knocked off their thrones and Centurions will no doubt have taken heed of this lesson.

In the reverse game at Bridgend, the Centurions 2nd XI lost a game that they should have won, following a massive batting collapse at Bridgend.

New boy Gareth Davies was the only batsman to make any kind of runs as all around him fell. All of the hard work had been done in the field as the home side were restricted to 130 all out, but Centurions could only muster 106, after being 69 for 1.

Westend Codeworks netball club in tournament win

BARRY Westend Codeworks Netball Club has won the Cardiff Division 7 opening tournament and became runners-up in the league at WSI Sophia Gardens.

Westend got off to a cracking start, beating Spear by 8-3, then played Penygraig Panthers beating them 7-3. The toughest test was against Penygraig Pumas who, unfortunately, beat them at the post by 4-3. The final game was a win over MJ Movers by 5-1.

Westend then had to play the winners of pool 2 – Jesters – and started well, with quick centre court play from Stacey Brown, backed up by Sophie Palmer and this attacking play produced well deserved goals from Caryl Jenkins and Kelly Richardson.

The defensive play was faultless, with amazing interceptions from both Jenna Heffernan and Leigh-Ann Jones.

Even when the attacking ball from Jesters did make it into the circle, it was soon intercepted by faultless GK Louise Laity.

The final whistle went with the end result being Westend 10, Jesters 2. Well done, ladies!
